The United States Colored Troops Memorial, located in the Nashville National Cemetery off Gallatin Pike in Nashville, Tennessee, recognizes the service of the 20,133 Black men that voluntarily served in the Union Army in Tennessee during the American Civil War.

Tennessee State University is a "Certified Vets Campus." This designation means that the University provides support services especially for veterans in an effort to ease their transition from military service to college life. For more information concerning Student Support Services, call 615-963-7001.
