6. Leave
7. Fringe benefits
8. All other terms, conditions, and privileges of employment.

PROCEDURE

A. A complaint may be filed by any present employee, former employee, applicant for employment, student applicant for admissions or former student of the University. A complaint is considered filed only after it has been submitted in writing to the EEO/AA Office. The written complaint must be as specific and detailed as possible. Once a complaint is filed, documentation relating to the case will be housed in the EEO/AA Office of the University.

B. A complaint may be filed (a) subsequent to an alleged act of discrimination or alleged violation of Title IX policy which has affected a person (b) to halt current practices in violation of persons rights under Title IX or (c) to prevent contemplated action which, if initiated, could result in a violation of a person's rights under Title IX.

C. After a complaint is filed, the EEO/AA Office will attempt to resolve the complaint. Parties charged will be provided a copy of the complaint and requested to make an official, written response.

D. Within ten work days after the written charge is filed, the complaint officer will forward a written report on the status of the case to the complainant. If the case has not been resolved, an additional ten work days will be allowed in which the EEO/AA Office will continue efforts to resolve the complaint. If resolution is unsuccessful within that period, the complainant will be informed through written notification of the right to a formal hearing.

E. The complainant must notify the EEO/AA Office within five work days from date of receipt of notification that a formal hearing is desired. If a formal hearing is requested, the EEO/AA Office will within fifteen days notify the complainant in writing of a hearing date and time.

F. Findings of the investigation to this stage and all documentation on the complaint will be provided to the Committee and the President. The committee may request additional evidence/information from any or all parties to the charge.

G. The committee will hear the case and hold the case under its jurisdiction until it arrives at a decision within twenty days of the initial hearing date. The written decision is forwarded to the EEO/AA Office, the President and parties to the charge. The President will either accept or reject the findings of the committee.

H. If the complaint is not resolved and the complainant desires further consideration be given, a written request for appeal may be filed with the General Counsel of the Tennessee Board of Regents.

I. Procedural due process will be observed during the processing of all grievances.

J. The Fair Employment Practices Committee (FEPC) serves as the official University grievance committee for Title IX complaints. Information regarding the FEPC's function, membership, hearing procedures, etc., may be obtained from the EEO/AA Office.
