Program Description: TSU URM program in Ecology and Environmental Science is designed to recruit and mentor minority undergraduate students and to prepare them to gain admission and successfully completion of graduate programs in Ecology and Environmental Science. The program is funded by the National Science Foundation (NSF).

Program Components: Generous Stipend for both Summer and Academic Year over Two Years; Research Mentoring and Academic Support; GRE Preparation; Summer Research Opportunities at Other Institutes.

Who is eligible? Those with strong interests in Ecology and Environmental Science, are 1st Semester Junior Level Students with a GPA 3.0 or higher, and are US Citizenship or Permanent Residents.