Office of the President

May 3-4, 2019

To the Graduating Class of 2019:

On behalf of the faculty, staff, and students at Tennessee State University, it is my distinct honor and privilege to extend heartfelt congratulations. I applaud you for having reached this extraordinary milestone. Today is a momentous occasion for you and those family members and friends who supported you during your matriculation, and helped you reach this pivotal moment in your academic, professional and personal development.

As a graduate of Tennessee State University, I am proud of the leadership development that I received, as well as the impact that TSU has had on the lives of students for over a century. The educational foundation that I received as a student at TSU became the underpinning for my professional career, which culminated in my returning home to TSU as President.

Now as you begin your professional lives with TSU as your foundation, you have become members of a coveted class of individuals who are well equipped to make an impact on our society and to transform humankind. As you proceed through your career, always remember to keep your eye on the mark, and maintain a high degree of integrity and character. And as you join the numerous alumni who contribute to TSU's excellence, and cement your place in our historic lineage, you do so with our expectation that you will utilize the skills, resources, and experiences that you garnered while here at TSU.

It is my hope that you will forever cherish your years at Tennessee State University. Please accept my best wishes for a bright and successful future; and may God's blessings follow you throughout all your personal and professional endeavors.

Sincerely,

Glenda Glover, Ph.D.
President

Board of Trustees

May 3-4, 2019

Dear Graduates:

On behalf of the Board of Trustees, I congratulate you on your graduation from Tennessee State University. You should take great pride in accomplishing this tremendous goal.

Congratulations are also extended to your family, friends and all those who have played a major role in helping you arrive to this day.

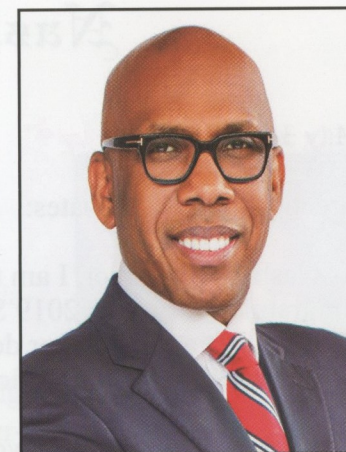

While here, you have grown both academically and socially as you embraced the institution's motto of "Think. Work. Serve." We are grateful that you chose TSU, and even more so, to be an integral part of this momentous occasion.

I believe you are uniquely prepared to make a difference in our world and impact generations to come. You follow in the footsteps of trailblazers, historymakers, and innovators. Please stay connected to your beloved alma mater and join the network of thousands of alumni that are BIG BLUE proud. We look forward to your active participation in the Alumni Association and returning for Homecoming, along with other events.

Again, congratulations and all the best!

Sincerely,

Dr. Joseph W. Walker III

May 3-4, 2019

Dear Class of 2019,

Congratulations on graduating from Tennessee State University. I am delighted to recognize your achievement, along with your family, friends, and professors.

You should be proud of this accomplishment. It took a lot of hard work and perseverance to get here. There may have been times when you thought this day would never come, but you pressed forward and are now college graduates. Continue to work hard and persevere through trials as you begin your careers or pursue further education. You have much to offer Tennessee and this nation, and I look forward to seeing how you use your education.

It is an honor to serve you in the United States Senate. Please do not hesitate to contact me if I can assist you in any way.

Congratulations and best wishes for your continued success.

Sincerely,

Marsha Blackburn

Tennessee State University National Alumni Association

May 3-4, 2019

Dear Graduates of the Class of 2019,

Congratulations on a job well done!

On behalf of the Tennessee State University National Alumni Association Executive Board, and the thousands of TSU alumni in this country and abroad, words cannot express how honored I am to let you know how proud we are of your accomplishments and achievements for which you have worked so faithfully.

Your drive, tenacity, and determination have brought you to this day, your graduation from TSU. So we celebrate you today for reaching a much deserved milestone in your life. We also thank your family members and your close TSU alumni mentors for inspiring, encouraging, and motivating you to reach this day and make it a reality.

Celebrate and enjoy your day as there is much work of a different kind in your future. As you have learned through our university's charge, Enter to Learn, Go Forth to Serve, it is now time for you to serve your country, your community and your family, while representing your alma mater.

Finally, to receive your graduation gift from TSUNAA, call the National Office at (615) 963-5885. A complimentary one (1) year membership in the Tennessee State University National Alumni Association awaits activation by you. We look forward to hearing from you and becoming an active and integral part of the TSU National Alumni Association.

Welcome to the Tennessee State University National Alumni Association.

My Blood runs Blue!!!

History of Tennessee State University

Tennessee State University is a comprehensive, urban coeducational, land-grant university founded in 1912 in Nashville, Tennessee. The university has two locations – the 500-acre main campus, with more than 65 buildings, located in a residential setting along the Cumberland River; and the Avon Williams Campus, located downtown, near the center of Nashville's business and government district.

Through successive stages, TSU has evolved from a normal school for Negroes to its current status as an international university with students from 45 states and more than 50 countries. By virtue of a 1909 Act of the General Assembly, the Agricultural and Industrial State Normal School was created, along with two other normal schools in the State of Tennessee, and began serving students on June 19, 1912. Dr. William Jasper Hale was appointed president with an original 247 students.

In 1922, the institution was elevated to the status of a four-year teachers' college and was empowered to grant the bachelor's degree. The first degrees were granted in June 1924. During the same year, the institution became known as the Agricultural and Industrial State Normal College. In 1927, "Normal" was dropped from the name of the College.

As the college grew in scope and stature throughout the 1920s and 1930s, so too did its impressive roster of alumni who embodied the school's charge: "Enter to learn, go forth to serve." In 1943, an alumnus, Dr. Walter S. Davis, was selected to succeed Dr. Hale. Dr. Davis led the institution through an era of tremendous growth in academics, facilities and athletics leading to worldwide recognition. The Tennessee General Assembly of 1941 authorized the State Board of Education to upgrade substantially the educational program of the college, which included the establishment of graduate studies leading to the master's degree. The first master's degree was awarded by the college in June 1944.

Accreditation of the institution by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools was first obtained in 1946. In August 1951, the institution was granted university status by approval of the State Board of Education. The reorganization of the institution's educational programs included the establishment of the Graduate School, the School of Arts & Sciences, the School of Education, and the School of Engineering. Provisions were also made for the addition of other schools, including agriculture, business, allied health and home economics.

After Dr. Walter S. Davis retired as president, another TSU alumnus, Dr. Andrew Torrence, was named the university's third president. During his tenure, the state legislature dropped "Agriculture & Industrial" and officially changed the name to Tennessee State University in 1968. Also during that same year, TSU faculty member Rita Sanders filed a lawsuit, which became known as Geier v. Tennessee, alleging a dual system of higher education in Tennessee based on race.

Dr. Frederick Humphries became TSU's fourth president in 1975, following the service of Dr. Charles B. Fancher as interim president. He was the first president to face the challenge of maintaining the balance between TSU's role as one of America's preeminent historically black universities and its emerging status as a comprehensive national university. During his tenure, on July 1, 1979, the Geier case was settled by a court order merging the former University of Tennessee at Nashville into TSU as a result of a court order. The name remained Tennessee State University.

Dr. Otis Floyd became TSU's fifth chief executive in 1987 and continued moving the university forward, following the service of Dr. Roy Peterson as interim president. In 1988, the university received an unprecedented $112 million from the state general assembly for capital improvements. Under this plan, nearly all buildings on campus were renovated, and eight new buildings were constructed, including the Floyd-Payne Campus Center, the Ned McWherter Administration Building, the Wilma Rudolph Residence Center and the Performing Arts Center.

In 1990, the Tennessee Board of Regents appointed Dr. Floyd as its chancellor, opening the way for Dr. George Cox to serve in an interim capacity until Dr. James Hefner was selected as the University's sixth president in 1991. Dr. Hefner supervised additional improvements to campus facilities and fostered enrollment growth to an all-time high. The Otis Floyd Nursery Crops Research Station in McMinnville was dedicated in 1996 and, in 1999 researchers at the TSU Center for Automated Space Science were the first to discover a planet outside the solar system.

Dr. Melvin N. Johnson became the university's seventh president in June 2005, and was instrumental in continuing to bring national attention to the university by recognizing the Freedom Riders, engaging the university in the Tennessee Campus Compact and was awarded $8 million for Race to the Top Funds by President Barack Obama. After Dr. Johnson's retirement, Dr. Portia Shields served as interim president from 2011-2012.

In the university's second century of academic excellence and service, Dr. Glenda Baskin Glover became the eighth president and first woman to lead the 100-plus year institution in January 2013. Under her leadership two new colleges have been established as well as new programs which resulted from a Comprehensive Academic Program Review. President Glover continues to make changes to further emphasize the excellence for which Tennessee State University is internationally known.

Through its eight colleges and schools, TSU offers 45 bachelor's degrees, 24 master's degrees, and 7 doctorate degrees: biological sciences, computer information systems engineering, psychology, public administration, curriculum and instruction, administration and supervision, and physical therapy.

In summary, during its 100-plus year history, eight presidents and five interim presidents have served the institution.

Eighth President

Glenda Baskin Glover, Ph.D., JD, CPA

Dr. Glenda Baskin Glover serves as President of Tennessee State University in Nashville, Tennessee, a position she has held since January 2013. Under her leadership as the university's first female president, student enrollment has continuously ranked among the highest amid the nation's HBCUs. TSU has also experienced a significant increase in alumni fundraising, research dollars and academic offerings with her at the helm.

Dr. Glover is a certified public accountant, an attorney, and is one of two African American women to hold the Ph.D-CPA-JD combination in the country. Her past employment also includes high level positions in the corporate sector as she is among few women to rise to the heights to serve on corporate boards of publicly traded corporations. These include Pinnacle Financial Partners, The Lenox Group, Citigroup-Student Loan Corporation and First Guaranty Bancshares, where she chairs the audit committee, and is experienced in corporate governance. She is a frequently sought keynote speaker at churches, national conventions, professional associations and community groups.

Her educational development began as a student at Tennessee State University, where she majored in mathematics. After graduating with a Bachelor of Science degree, she pursued the Master of Business Administration from Clark Atlanta University. She then completed her doctorate in business from George Washington University, and later completed her law degree from Georgetown University.

Dr. Glover is a member of several professional, civic, and non-profit organizations. She is also the recipient of numerous awards and honors. She recently received the prestigious Thurgood Marshall College Fund Education Leadership Award as the 2018 HBCU President of the Year. In 2013, she was named to Diverse Issues in Higher Education's prestigious list as one of the "Top 25 Women in Higher Education."

Dr. Glover is a member of several professional, civic, and non-profit organizations. She and her husband, Charles, are the parents of two adult children, Attorney Candace Glover, and Dr. Charles Glover II. They are also the proud grandparents of two grandsons, Lincoln Mathis Glover and Langston Emmanuel Datcher.

College of Agriculture

The College of Agriculture offers teaching, research and extension functions and B.S., M.S., and Ph.D. degrees through four academic units: the Institute of Food, Agricultural and Environmental Research, the Cooperative Extension Program, and four research centers—the Center for Prevention Research, the Otis L. Floyd Nursery Crops Research Center, and the Agricultural Research and Education Centers at Nashville and Ashland City. The academic units are: the Department of Agricultural and Environmental Sciences, the Department of Biological Sciences, the Department of Chemistry, and the Department of Family and Consumer Sciences. Recently, the College has been improving and expanding, including some of these highlights:

- Agricultural enrollment has more than doubled while graduate student enrollment has increased eight-fold.
- In early 2018, the U.S. Department of Agriculture awarded more than $2 million in teaching, research and extension capacity building grants to seven Tennessee State University professors in the College of Agriculture.
- In 2018, the College opened six new laboratories and re-opened five newly remodeled labs, bringing the total number of state-of-the-art laboratories at the College to 35.
- In 2017, the College received nearly $500,000 from the federal government to expand its research on goat meat production.
- The Dean's Scholars Program and pre-college summer apprenticeship programs continue to attract highly qualified students.
- The College's educational programs help educate minorities in STEM fields and offer pre-professional programs in medical, dental and veterinary medicine.
- Through youth and community development programs (4-H and FFA), the College teaches and encourages youth in science and engineering, as well as valuable leadership and life skills.
- In 2011-2012, TSU agriculture received the highest dollar amount grants and contracts among peer institutions. In fact, the college's current research outlays are about $55 million—a three-fold increase in four years.
- Research in the College is focused on bio-energy, environmental sustainability, human health/nutrition/obesity/cancer, food safety and food security.

- The Nursery Crops Research Center at McMinnville provides leadership, research and support for improving the Tennessee Nursery industry.
- University outreach in Tennessee communities has expanded to include agents in 50 counties—another three-fold increase in four years. Technical assistance is provided to farmers, homeowners, and the general public on a variety of issues including crop, animal production and human health.
- The college has engaged in multiple construction projects including a 25,000 square foot Agricultural Biotechnology building, six new greenhouses, a new landscape studio, an agricultural education workshop, and a field research support building—totaling a commitment of nearly $11 million.

College of Business

Tennessee State University's College of Business was the first business school in Nashville to earn dual accreditation from the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB International), the most prestigious accrediting body for business schools. The College of Business earned its initial accreditation from AACSB in 1994. Such achievement resulted in Tennessee State University becoming the first university in Nashville and the first public Historically Black College and University (HBCU) in the country to gain dual accreditation at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

- The College of Business has approximately 900 students and is also home to nationally recognized outreach programs including its Nashville Business Incubation Center, Tennessee Small Business Development Center, Office of Business and Economic Research, and Office of International Business Programs.
- The university's new Executive MBA program is helping to make Nashville even more competitive when it comes to business leadership. The 12-month program, which starts in the fall, is delivered in a hybrid format consisting of both in-person and online course offerings. Program participants also have the opportunity to spend 10 days studying outside the United States to broaden their understanding of global leadership.
- The College of Business offers Bachelor of Business Administration programs to undergraduates in Accounting, Business Administration, Business Information Systems, and Economics and Finance. Concentrations are available in Supply Chain Management, Marketing, Management, Human Resource Management, Hospitality, Real Estate and Urban Development, Business Information Systems—Industry, and e-Business Technology. Additionally, the College offers minors in General Business, Entrepreneurship, and International Business. At the graduate level, the Master of Business Administration is offered with concentrations in Accounting, Management of Information Systems, Healthcare Economics and Management, and Supply Chain Management.
- Recently, 24 students participated in study abroad programs that included China, Italy, and the great European capitals. Additional efforts in international education include a memorandum of understanding with Tianjin University in China and Meliksah University in Turkey; both initiatives are aimed at increasing enrollment in the College's MBA program.
- Accreditation and assurance of learning remain a top priority as the College continues with strategies and processes to gain separate accreditation in Accounting from AACSB International.
- The College successfully recruited two distinguished scholars to hold the Frist Chair of Excellence in Business with a focus in Accounting and the newly endowed Chair of Excellence in Banking and Financial Services. The College is continuing its efforts to raise funds for a third Chair of Excellence in Supply Chain Management.

- The College of Business has established alliances with a long list of community organizations that provide resources earmarked for internships and scholarships, business industry needs assessments, and recommendations for continuous curriculum improvements. The COB community partners include: Corning, Dell, Boeing, HCA, Lemark, Ernst & Young, Asurion, Regions Bank, KraftCPAs, Nissan, PricewaterhouseCoopers, just to name a few.
- The Financial Trading Room is a state of the art facility designed to give students hands-on training and knowledge regarding the stock market and trading.

College of Education

The College of Education is rooted in the historical purpose of the Tennessee Agricultural and Industrial State Normal School—now Tennessee State University: “to prepare teachers and leaders to meet the demands for more efficient and practical service in the public schools and life.” Today, the College of Education continues to fulfill that purpose in the community it serves.

- More than 90 percent of graduates in the Professional School Counseling Program have obtained positions in the Middle Tennessee School System. The impact of the College is evident in school leadership as well. More than 40 percent of the principals in the Metropolitan Nashville Public School System attended TSU.
- In 2017, TSU was one of only four institutions in the state, designated as Education Preparation Programs, to receive the Tennessee Innovation in Preparation award, or TIP. Such grants, awarded by the Tennessee Department of Education, are designed to support an increase in the development of a diverse educator workforce, an increase in the production of educators in high-demand licensure areas, and promote collaboration to improve educator preparation in literacy.
- The College of Education at TSU along with other universities, such as Vanderbilt, partnered with the National Board for Professional Teaching Standards (National Board) to obtain a $3 million grant from the U.S. Department of Education under its i3 (Investing in Innovation) grant competition. The grant aims to improve teacher preparation and enhance early-career teaching support, with the ultimate goal of promoting student achievement in grades 3-6 mathematics and science in high-need schools. Entitled, Building a Pipeline of Teaching Excellence, the project will utilize the national board's extensive repository of resources on teaching, such as video case studies of best practices to support TSU's teacher preparation program, and seven local education agencies.
- The Ph.D. Program in the College's Department of Psychology is home to one of two HBCU's with accreditation in Counseling Psychology from the American Psychological Association (APA). The program's emphasis in Social Justice and Diversity is supported through a multicultural-focused curriculum, grants from the National Science Foundation, faculty mentored student research, brown bags and other co-curricular activities, and a variety of practicum experiences that focus on underrepresented and underserved populations.
- The Bachelors of Science in Psychology offered by the College aims to prepare majors for both careers and graduate school by providing students with a contemporary psychology curriculum and a variety of High Impact Practices (HIPs) including: Study Abroad, Honors Courses, Work-Based Learning, and Undergraduate Research. Faculty with expertise from neuroanatomy to social psychology mentor students in faculty-led projects, and majors may opt to design and conduct original research in their capstone course. About 40% of TSU psychology majors pursue graduate degrees.
- The College of Education, a partner with the Educational Testing Service, succeeded in obtaining a Race to the Top grant three years ago, making TSU one of the few institutions to acquire the competitive funds. The grant has allowed the College to provide professional development in mathematics instruction for practicing elementary school teachers throughout Tennessee.

- The Colleges of Education; Engineering; and Agriculture, Human, and Natural Sciences have collaborated to obtain a National Science Foundation grant, entitled Career Commitment and Retention in STEM: Building the STEM Workforce. The project is designed to develop and validate culturally-appropriate career management intervention for science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) majors.

The Teacher Education Program is undergoing a major redesign that will place teacher candidates at a school site for a year-long residency during the senior year. The new initiative, Ready2Teach, is scheduled for full implementation in fall 2013 and will involve intense mentoring for candidates and teachers who will engage in co-teaching.

College of Engineering

The College of Engineering is challenged and committed to providing the highest quality industry-driven curricula in Engineering, Technology, Mathematical Sciences and Computer Science to meet the growing demand for STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math) professionals in industry, government and entrepreneurship.

- The College currently provides bachelor's degrees in Architectural, Civil, Electrical and Mechanical Engineering with several concentrations such as manufacturing, environmental, facilities and computer engineering. The college also awards degrees in Aeronautical & Industrial Technology, Computer Science, Mathematical Sciences and graduate degrees for the Master of Engineering and M.S. and Ph.D. in Computer and Information Systems Engineering.
- The College of Engineering's students and faculty continue to receive national recognition for their top-notch research. Students from the College recently received praise for their design of a special transport vehicle for the U.S. Air Force Special Operations Force. Studies by several graduate and undergraduate students have also been used by local city officials to determine the safety of bridges around Nashville.
- Recognizing the need for developing graduates with an appreciation for global awareness, solid engineering fundamentals and professionalism, the college strives to develop and promote an educational experience that produces the "global engineer" through life or language learning, a FE-based (Fundamentals of Engineering) curriculum for outcome assessment and critical skills in research, design, problem solving and communication. A dedicated faculty and staff seek to integrate innovative approaches to instruction, laboratory experience and internships to address the contemporary challenges of the profession and engage the community through service and outreach.
- The College of Engineering's programs complement the student learning experience with aggressive research initiatives in areas such as intelligent sensors, robotics, manufacturing, environmental issues, data fusion, cyber-security, renewable energy, nano-materials and signal/image processing. The Engineering Research Institute (ERI) serves as the primary entity to collaborate and partner with industry and government, complemented by several research centers in specific areas of scientific investigation.

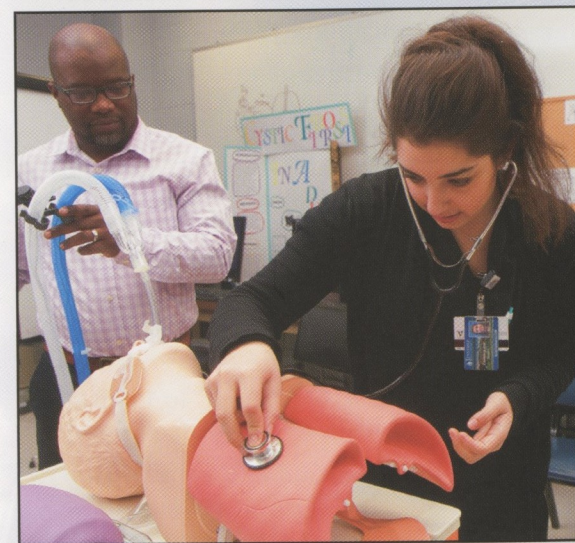

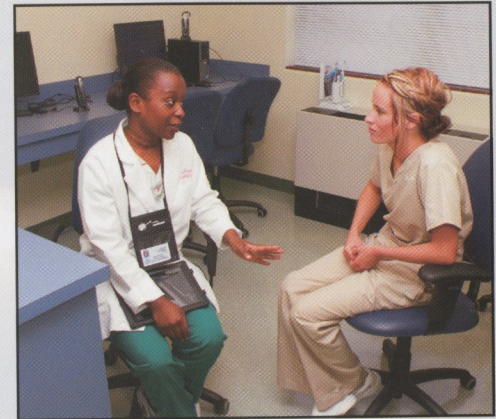

- As the leading producer of African-American engineers in the state, the college continues to strengthen its partnerships with local, regional and national corporations and government. Producing a diverse population of graduates has prepared quality students for employment with companies such as IBM, GM, Corps of Engineers, TDOT, Raytheon, Lockheed Martin, P&G, and Boeing and the U.S. Navy and Air Force.

College of Health Sciences

The College of Health Sciences at Tennessee State University serves 742 students in programs ranging from Associate to Doctoral degrees. Some unique aspects of the College are:

- The College offers two Clinics that serve the public: Dental Hygiene and Speech and Language – at low or no cost.
- The College's Dental Hygiene program has two degrees, an AAS in Dental Hygiene and a BS Degree Completion. Our state-of-the-art Dental Hygiene Clinic utilizes emerging equipment and technology, and provides service to nearly 600 patients a year, including students, as well as the Greater Nashville Community. We currently maintain 83% persistence to graduation rate, along with two (2) year didactic/written based - National Board Dental Hygiene Examination, (NBDHE) pass rate of 94% and clinical based - Southern Regional Testing Agency, (SRTA) test score of 94% that lead to professional licensure.
- The Department of Speech Pathology and Audiology offers a Master of Science (MS) Degree in both traditional and distance education formats. The online graduate program in Speech and Hearing Science holds the distinction of being the first distance education program at Tennessee State University as well as the first distance education program in the area of Speech-Language Pathology in the State of Tennessee.
- The School of Nursing offers two career mobility accelerated degree completion programs in nursing including: the LPN-AASN/RN Program and the RN/BSN Program, each specifically designed for the working nurse.
- The Physical Therapy Program has a partnership with LEND (Leadership Education in Neurodevelopmental Disabilities) program with Vanderbilt University. The two-year aggregate pass rate of graduates of the Doctorate of Physical Therapy program for the classes of 2016 and 2017 is 97 percent.
- The College has a new partnership with Hillwood High School's Academy of Health Sciences.
- The Occupational Therapy program has ten year accreditation through ACOTE; job outlook according to U.S. News & World Report, January 2018: OT is ranked number 11 of the Best Jobs for 2018. Class of 2018 passrate is 93 percent as of August 2018. 30 students admitted annually.
- The Public Health, Health Administration and Health Sciences programs offer two undergraduate degrees and one graduate degree program: Health Sciences, Health Care Administration and Planning and Master in Public Health.
- The Cardio Respiratory Care program has an overall employer satisfaction of 100 percent.
- The Health Information Management program has an overall 95 percent retention rate of students accepted junior/professional level class and over 90 percent job placement.
- HPSS was awarded a transformational 5-year Title III grant to renovate/develop state-of-the-art classrooms and two applied physiology laboratories, beginning October, 2017.

College of Liberal Arts

The College of Liberal Arts offers courses and programs in the arts, humanities, and social sciences, preparing students for a wide range of graduate and professional opportunities.

From the traditional academic disciplines at the heart of a university education to new interdisciplinary fields, major and minor programs in the College promote a vision of liberal learning that recognizes the unique gifts, interests and goals of each student.

By engaging with the rich intellectual traditions, promoting knowledge of global cultures, and developing vital career skills, Liberal Arts courses and programs prepare their graduates for resilience and adaptability, lifelong learning, and leadership in a changing world.

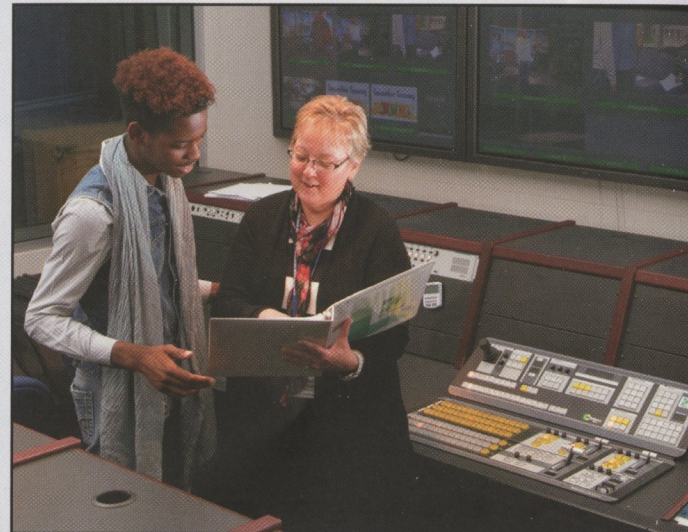

The faculty of the College of Liberal Arts is committed to helping students make the most of their college education. Whether majoring in a Liberal Arts program, enriching a degree with a Liberal Arts minor or simply taking a class, the College supports each student on their intellectual journey.

The College boasts one of the top Forensics teams in the nation. It's so well respected, that TSU was selected in 2018 to host the Pi Kappa Delta National Forensics Tournament. It was the first time in nearly two decades that a historically black college or university hosted the tournament.

The Liberal Arts vision of education is about exploration. From English, art, theater, and music to history, political science, criminal justice, and mass communications, Liberal Arts disciplines put the intellectual growth of the student at the center of the university experience.

All of the majors in the College of Liberal Arts are guided by common core values:

- Integrative Learning
- Creativity
- Responsibility
- Critical Thinking and Reasoned Judgment
- Professional Competency
- Student Service and Support

College of Life and Physical Sciences

The College of Life and Physical Sciences offers research opportunities and instruction in biological sciences, chemistry and mathematics. A specific goal of the college is to increase the proportion of underrepresented minorities in life and physical sciences and mathematics fields.

Department of Biological Sciences

The Department of Biological Sciences offers a variety of undergraduate and graduate degrees:

- Bachelor of Science (B.S.) - General Biology
- Bachelor of Science (B.S.) - Cell and Molecular Biology
- Bachelor of Sciences (B.S.) - Teacher Certification/Licensure (Grades 7-12)
- Master of Science (M.S.) - Biology
- Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) in Biological Sciences

A variety of courses in the botanical, microbiological, molecular biological and zoological life science areas are offered at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. The Department also has a cooperative program with Meharry Medical College in which students complete their TSU degree while working on a medical or dental degree at Meharry, thus saving a year in their education.

The Bachelor of Science program provides training in the basic biological sciences leading to the B.S. degree in biology for:

- pre-health professionals
- entry into life science graduate training programs
- acquisition of entry level positions in the job market
- students seeking certification for secondary teaching careers, and
- graduate training leading to the master of science and doctor of philosophy degrees

Department of Chemistry

Chemistry involves the composition, structure, and behavior of matter. The Department of Chemistry offers a variety of undergraduate and graduate degrees, and its Bachelor of Science program is approved by the Committee on Professional Training (CPT) of the American Chemical Society (ACS).

The following undergraduate and graduate degrees are offered in the Department of Chemistry:

Bachelor of Science (B.S.) in Chemistry with the following concentrations:

- Professional Chemistry-ACS Approved
- Biochemistry Concentration (Pre-Med, Pre-Pharmacy and Pre-Dentistry Conc)
- Teacher Certification Concentration
- Chemistry Concentration

Master of Science (M.S.) in Chemistry with the following concentrations:

- Professional Chemistry Concentration
- Biochemistry Concentration

Department of Mathematical Sciences

Mathematics is an essential grounding for many different disciplines and is used in many of the sciences for quantifying statistics and data. The Department of Mathematical Sciences provides students a general framework in mathematics which will suit the critical thinking and problem-solving skills required in varying fields.

A Bachelor of Science (B.S.) degree is offered in:

- Mathematics

An undergraduate minor is offered in:

- Mathematics
- Astronomy

College of Public Service

The College of Public Service became operational January 2008 with the appointment and arrival of the founding dean, former Nashville Mayor Bill Purcell. The new College fulfilled the Geier Consent Decree of 1984 and from the Institute of Government has expanded to include the Department of Public Administration and the Department of Sociology, Social Work and Urban Professions. The intent of the Consent Decree was to establish a division that would address the workforce needs of the city and state in the various areas of government and public service.

The mission of the College is to educate, socialize and serve students and employers of nonprofit, health and urban organizations by:

- THINK – Providing educational programs that build skills in knowledge of sociology, social work, urban affairs, public administration and leadership;
- WORK – Conducting scholarly and applied research activities supportive of these educational purposes;
- SERVE – Consulting and applying research and knowledge of social programs.

The College features three undergraduate degrees:

- B.S. in Urban Studies, B.S. in Sociology and B.S. in Social Work;
- Two undergraduate minors in Nonprofit Management and Leadership;
- Six graduate degrees: online Master of Professional Studies, Master of Public Administration, a Graduate Certificate in Health Planning and Administration, a Graduate Certificate in Non-Profit Management, a Master of Social Work (the only multi-collaborative master's program among three universities in the country), and a Ph.D. in Public Administration (the only degree of this level in Tennessee at a public institution).

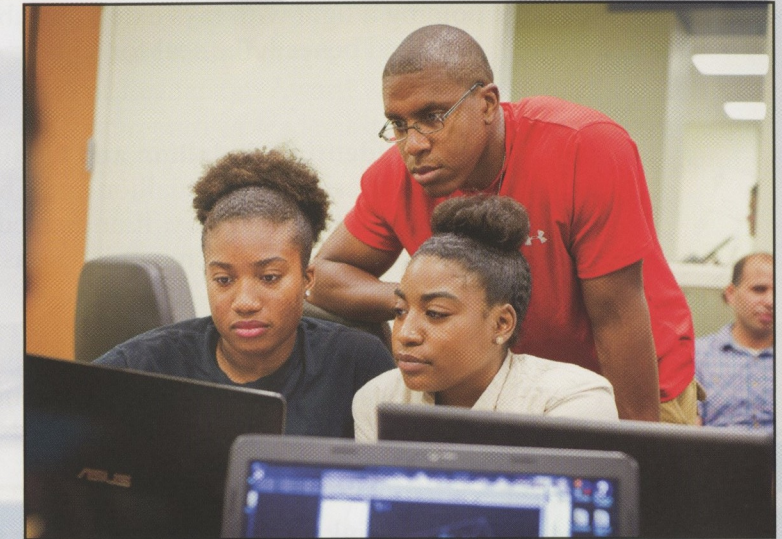

Where are CPSUA graduates? At the Tennessee Department of Labor, the Tennessee Department of Safety and Homeland Security, the U.S. Missile Defense Agency, the Tennessee Department of Human Services, TennCare Bureau, Juvenile Justice, serving in Student Professional Development, as elected officials, in social services in cities throughout Tennessee, the Tennessee Division of Intellectual Disabilities, the Tennessee Supreme Court, the Tennessee Department of Corrections, the Board of Regents, the Department of Internal Revenue, Centerstone, youth service agencies and many others.

School of Graduate Studies and Research

The Tennessee General Assembly authorized the state Board of Education to establish graduate studies leading to the master's degree in several fields at Tennessee State University (then called Tennessee Agricultural and Industrial (A & I) State College) in 1941. Today, the School of Graduate Studies and Research offers seven doctoral degrees, 24 master's degrees, one educational specialist degree and six graduate certificate programs.

- In fiscal year 2011-2012, the School of Graduate Studies and Research, in collaboration with various units on campus, awarded more than 300 graduate assistantships to qualified graduate students totaling approximately $3 million.
- In collaboration with the TSU Foundation, the School of Graduate Studies and Research in the past two years awarded the Walter S. Davis Scholarships to several first-time high achieving graduate students (with minimum undergraduate cumulative GPA of 3.75). The Walter Davis Scholarship Fund was established in memory of Dr. Walter S. Davis, president of Tennessee State University (1943-1968).
- Each spring semester, the School of Graduate Studies and Research recognizes excellence in graduate student research by awarding the Helen Barrett Award to one TSU graduate student. The 2012 winner and recipient of the Helen Barrett Award was Victor L. Roland II, a master's student in engineering. In recognition of his work, Roland received a prize of $200 and certificate signed by the University's president and graduate dean. As the winner of the Helen Barrett Award, Rowland showcased his research at the annual poster presentation organized by the Tennessee Conference of Graduate Schools at the Legislative Plaza in downtown Nashville on April 4, 2012.

Dr. Mengistu Hailu, a 2011 graduate of Tennessee State University, has been appointed director of the Institute of Pedagogical Sciences of Mekelle University, Ethiopia. Dr. Hailu is tasked with moving the institute forward by developing a new College of Education. The institute currently offers undergraduate and graduate programs in the field of Educational Planning and Management; a post graduate diploma in teaching (a program that certifies high school teachers); and a higher diploma program that certifies university lecturers.

The Symbols of Office

The University Seal

In 1922, Dr. William Jasper Hale, first president of Tennessee A. and I. Normal School, asked Frances Thompson, professor and department head of Art, to design the University Seal. Enclosed in a circle, the seal is divided into three parts: 'Agriculture' upper left, 'Industry' upper right, 'Education' in lower center. Education is further emphasized by a hand holding a light with rays extending above the seal. The motto, "Think. Work. Serve." is placed beneath the seal for support.

Presidential Medallion and Chain of Office

The Presidential Medallion and Chain of Office serves as a symbol of authority as head of the university. It originated in medieval times and is worn by the president of the university on ceremonial occasions such as commencement, convocations or other formal occasions.

The front of the Medallion and Chain of Office bears the official University Seal. The backside of the medallion contains a circular seal with a blue border bearing the President's motto in latin: NIL SINE MAGNO LABORE - "Nothing without Great Effort."

Each link of the chain holding the medallion is inscribed with the name of a past president of the institution and his term in office. Holding together these links and supporting the medallion is a bronze leaf cluster.

University Mace and Baton

In 2005, the mace and baton was conceptualized. The Lapis stone characterizes the TSU Blue and is used to stimulate inner vision and give enhanced wisdom, insight and good judgment. The pearl stone represents the TSU White and symbolizes the wealth, purity and power of knowledge. The head and flanges of the mace are modeled after the Floyd-Payne Campus Center Tower located on the university's main campus. The reflective quality of the polished silver signifies the vision of the university.

The baton of the mace is made of wood which is a forest symbol or the symbol of a provider. It represents a tree of knowledge around which each college and school is mounted. This aspect of the mace serves to link the university with its cultural heritage, as well as TSU's ancestral past.

The three-tier stand for the mace embodies the motto: "Think. Work. Serve." This aspect of the mace constitutes the foundation of the university that holds the mace in place and represents the classical architectural structure of the educational values at the university. On top of the mace is the seal of the university. Together, the mace and baton are borne as a symbol of authority in the Processional and Recessional at occasions such as Commencement and Inaugural ceremonies.

The mace is carried by the University Chief Marshal in front of the Platform party that is composed of the President, Vice Presidents, Tennessee Board of Regents Representatives, other authorities and distinguished guests.

University's Academic Excellence Award

The University's Academic Excellence Award was commissioned in 2008. The award is a two-inch light oxidized bronze seal pendant medallion attached to a blue ribbon and serves as a symbol of recognition for academic achievement for students graduating summa cum laude and with the highest grade point average in the class.

University's Distinguished Student Leadership Award

The University's Distinguished Student Leadership Award was commissioned in 2008. The award is presented to the student whose record of leadership and outstanding contributions to student life and government has had a great impact on improving the quality of the student experience at Tennessee State University.

The History of Academic Regalia

The history of academic dress began with the medieval European universities of the 14th century. In a time when all students were clerics, the gown and its attached hood served the dual function of keeping the student warm in unheated buildings and identifying the particular order to which he belonged. Modern academic costume in the United States is based upon an intercollegiate code established in 1895. These early agreements have been revised periodically to cover standardization of the cap (two basic styles), the gown (three basic styles) and the hood (subject to greater variation than either the cap or the gown). The cap, originally round in shape, is usually the more familiar mortarboard square with tassel or black Oxford style.

The gown, commonly black, differs in sleeves and trimming according to the level of degree. The bachelor's gown is relatively simple in design. It is full-cut, falling in a straight line from an elaborate yoke, with long pointed sleeves as its distinguishing mark. The master's gown is similar to the bachelor's, except for its peculiar arrangement of the oblong sleeves that terminate in square ends at the wearer's knees; the wearer's arms emerge through slits in the sleeves made at the elbows. Short-sleeved master's gowns are also worn. The doctoral gown is an elaborate, full-cut, flowing costume distinguished by velvet panels down the front and around the neck and by three bars of velvet on the voluminous bell-shaped sleeves. The velvet is usually black, but it may be a color designating the field of study (for example, dark blue for philosophy).

The hood, traditionally bearing the heaviest symbolic burden, is the most important feature of the academic costume. The length of the hood and the width of its velvet trimming designate the level of the degree. The hood's lining identifies the institution that granted the degree, and the color of the velvet heralds the major field of learning.

Origin of Awarding Degrees

The first academic degree was conferred in approximately 1160 A.D. at the University of Bologna, Italy with the practice spreading quickly to other European universities, most notably the University of Paris, Oxford University, and Cambridge University. The procedure used for awarding degrees at most American universities is based on a practice developed at the University of Paris in the late 12th or early 13th century. In those days, the Bishop of Paris, like every other bishop, was responsible for local educational curriculum and degree setting. His authority, however, soon came to be disputed by the teachers. They asserted that only they could be proper judges of the qualifications of their students. The threatened impasse was resolved by a compromise, under which the teachers, or masters, judged the merits of the students and then recommended them to the Bishop for the conferring of their degrees.

Graduate Commencement Speaker

National Television Host and Commentator / Radio Talk Show Host
Chairman, National Action Network / Civil Rights Leader

With many supporters and critics, Reverend Al Sharpton is known for his deft handling of the media, leading some to call him "the master of the sound bite." A well-known public figure, Sharpton shares his views and tackles today's issues through his popular television and radio programs.

Born in Brooklyn, New York, Alfred Charles Sharpton, Jr. attended public schools in Queens and Brooklyn. At the age of 10, Sharpton became an ordained minister in the Pentecostal church, where as a child he developed his candid speaking style. He often traveled to deliver sermons and once toured with Mahalia Jackson, the famed gospel singer.

In the late 1960s, Rev. Sharpton became active in the civil rights movement. He joined the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and in 1969 as a high-school student became youth director of the organization's program, Operation Breadbasket, which sought to encourage diversity in the workplace by applying social and economic pressure on businesses.

After graduating from Samuel J. Tilden High School in 1972, Rev. Sharpton spent two years at Brooklyn College as a contemporary politics major, but subsequently left the school and continued his work as a political activist, establishing his own organization, the National Youth Movement (NYM).

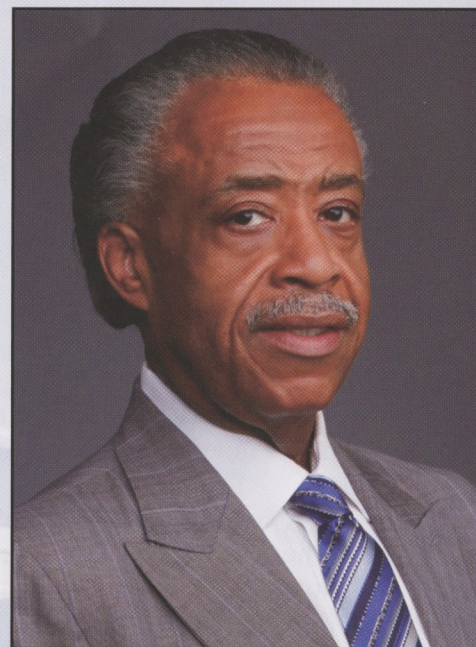

During the 1980s, Rev. Sharpton became involved with many high-profile cases in the New York City area that affected the African-American community. He led several protests against injustices and incidents of racial discrimination, including his efforts to keep media scrutiny on the racially-based murder of a black teenager named Michael Griffith in 1986.

Throughout his career, Rev. Sharpton has vied for public office on many occasions, running for the New York State Assembly in 1978, a seat in the U.S. Senate in 1992 and 1994, mayor of New York in 1997, and throwing his hat into the ring in 2004 to become the Democratic Party's presidential candidate.

Rev. Sharpton has continued to throw his talents behind important causes, cases and events in the African-American community, including the rebuilding of New Orleans after the devastation left by Hurricane Katrina in 2005 and playing a lead role in organizing protests against the police-related deaths of Michael Brown in Missouri and Eric Garner in New York. He has been the host of PoliticsNation since 2011 on MSNBC, and has his own syndicated radio show, Keepin' It Real.

On August 28, 2017, the fifty-fourth anniversary of the famous March On Washington at which Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. gave his "I Have A Dream" speech, Rev. Sharpton organized the Ministers March for Justice, promising to bring a thousand members of the clergy to Washington, D.C., to deliver a "unified moral rebuke" to President Donald Trump. Several thousand religious leaders showed up, including Christians, Jews, Muslims, and Sikhs.

Rev. Sharpton has two daughters, Dominique and Ashley.

Academic Honors

Summa Cum Laude A senior who has earned a grade point average of 3.75 or above.
 Magna Cum Laude A senior who has earned a grade point average of 3.50 to 3.74.
 Cum Laude A senior who has earned a grade point average of 3.25 to 3.49.
 University Honors A senior who has earned a grade point average of 3.25 or above and has fulfilled other requirements of the University Honors Program.

Candidates who have achieved honors in general scholarship are distinguished in procession by three-tassel gold braid cords. Those graduating with University Honors are distinguished by a scarlet braid cord with three gold tassels. The scarlet is symbolic of the University Honors Program; the gold, of general scholarship. The cords are provided by the University Honors Program.

Undergraduate Commencement Speaker

Dr. Michael Eric Dyson

Professor, Author, Minister, and Radio Host

Dr. Michael Eric Dyson is one of the nation's most renowned public intellectuals. Known for his striking insight on controversial issues including race, politics and pop culture, he has been called "a street fighter in a suit and tie."

Ordained as a Baptist minister at the age of 19, Dr. Dyson was born in Detroit, Michigan. He attended Cranbrook School in Bloomfield Hills, Michigan, on an academic scholarship and eventually graduated from Northwestern High School. After working in factories to support his family, Dr. Dyson enrolled in Knoxville College as a freshman at the age of 21. He obtained his bachelor's degree, magna cum laude, from Carson-Newman College (1985), and his master's (1991) and Ph.D. (1993) in religion from Princeton University.

A prolific author, Dr. Dyson is a contributing opinion writer at the New York Times. He is a contributing editor at New Republic, host of the Michael Eric Dyson Podcast, Featuring Dr. Dan Ratner, and can be seen as a political analyst on MSNBC.

Dr. Dyson serves as professor of Sociology at Georgetown University. He has taught at Chicago Theological Seminary, Brown University, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Columbia University, DePaul University, and the University of Pennsylvania.

Essence has named Dr. Dyson one of the 50 most inspiring African Americans and Ebony has listed him among the 100 most influential black Americans. He often speaks at universities and political conventions, but is also known for his speaking engagements at union halls, prisons, classrooms, and churches.

Throughout his career, Dr. Dyson has had a profound effect on American culture and thinking. Described by Michael A. Fletcher as "a Princeton Ph.D. and a child of the streets who takes pains never to separate the two," Dyson has authored or edited more than 20 books dealing with subjects such as Malcolm X, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., Marvin Gaye, Nas's debut album Illmatic, Bill Cosby, Tupac Shakur, and Hurricane Katrina. His 1994 book, Making Malcolm: The Myth and Meaning of Malcolm X, became a New York Times notable book of the year. He has won two NAACP Image Awards for Outstanding Literary Work in non-fiction and the American Book Award in 2007 for Come Hell or High Water: Hurricane Katrina and the Color of Disaster.

His latest book, What Truth Sounds Like, continues the conversation started in his 2017 bestseller Tears We Cannot Stop, and was the winner of the 2018 Southern Books Prize for nonfiction.

Dr. Dyson is married to Marcia Louise. He has three children, Michael, Maisha, and Maidyson.

Program Notes

- Photographs: Guests are requested to refrain from taking photographs during the exercises.
- The audience is requested to remain seated during the Academic Procession and Recession.
- The assembly is requested to stand for the Alma Mater.
- Interpreters are provided by the university for hearing-impaired members of the audience. They are seated near the front of the stage on the second level of the gym.
- This program is not an official graduation list. It lists students who were eligible to participate in the graduation ceremonies pending the outcome of final examinations and final grades. Therefore, it should not be used to determine a student's academic or degree status.
- Candidates: Any display of disruptive behaviors--stumping, dancing, etc.--on stage or in the audience will not be tolerated. No talking on cell phones. All phones must be turned off! Failure to comply with these University rules will necessitate the removal of the graduate from the ceremony, and other possible consequences.
- Audience: Please turn off cell phones, keep the noise level to a minimum, and do not display behaviors that disrupt the ceremony (bull horns, signs, whistles are prohibited).

Alma Mater

In the land of golden sunshine
By the Cumb'rland's fertile shore.
Stands a school for greatest service
One that we adore
Alma Mater, how we love thee,
Love thy white and blue
May we strive to meet Thy mandates
With faith that's true.

Many come to Thee for knowledge,
Come from East, North, South and West.
For they know that Thou dost offer
Such a rich bequest.
Alma Mater, all Thy children
Worship at Thy shrine;
May the God of nations bless thee
With gifts divine.

Send forth sons both strong and valiant,
Send forth daughters wise and true.
Filled with hope and dauntless courage
Motives sane and true.
Alma Mater, kindly mother
Smile on Tennessee
May she lift her head toward Heaven
Honor Country, God and Thee.
