

Course Name	Faculty Qualifications Needed	Related Disciplines	Acceptable Alternative Qualifications	Course Description
INDS 1000 Prior Learning Assessment Theory and Practice	Earned Masters or Doctorate degree; or Masters or Doctorate degree with a concentration in the teaching discipline with at least 18 graduate semester hours in related field.	Interdisciplinarity or Interdisciplinary Studies	Acceptable alternative qualifications include substantial professional experience (e.g., publications, awards) in related fields, relevant professional licensure/certifications, and notable scholarly work such as published articles or conference presentations in related fields.	An accelerated course that will help students identify areas of learning they may want to have evaluated for college-level equivalency. This course will also guide students through the preparation and compilation of all components required for the evaluation of a portfolio of prior learning through LearningCounts.org.
INDS 3000 Interdisciplinary Studies Workshop	Earned Masters or Doctorate; or Masters or Doctorate degree with a concentration in the teaching discipline with at least 18 graduate semester hours in related field.	Interdisciplinarity or Interdisciplinary Studies	Acceptable alternative qualifications include substantial professional experience (e.g., publications, awards) in related fields, relevant professional licensure/certifications, and notable scholarly work such as published articles or conference presentations in related fields.	This course will enable students to develop an understanding of the skills they have learned from the different disciplines they have studied and apply them in an interdisciplinary fashion. Student will produce a project design for a project to be completed.
INDS 3200 Short-Term Study Abroad	Earned Masters or Doctorate degree in Arts, Science; or Masters or Doctorate degree with a concentration in the teaching discipline with at least 18 graduate semester hours in related field.	Interdisciplinarity or Interdisciplinary Studies	Acceptable alternative qualifications include substantial professional experience (e.g., publications, awards) in related fields, relevant professional licensure/certifications, and notable scholarly work such as published articles or conference presentations in related fields.	Enrichment of general education in the arts and sciences through international travel, typically as a part of a faculty-led student group.
INDS 4000 Senior Project	Earned Masters or Doctorate degree; or Masters or Doctorate degree with a concentration in the teaching discipline with at least 18 graduate semester hours in related field.	Interdisciplinarity or Interdisciplinary Studies	Acceptable alternative qualifications include substantial professional experience (e.g., publications, awards) in related fields, relevant professional licensure/certifications, and notable scholarly work such as published articles or conference presentations in related fields.	A capstone course the BS in Arts & Sciences. It allows students to demonstrate the skills they have learned from the different disciplines they have studied and apply them in an interdisciplinary fashion. Students will be guided through a capstone project that will address a topical issue of their choosing and incorporate research, analytical, and presentation techniques from their previous coursework.
INDS 4100 Interdisciplinary Studies Internship	Earned Masters or Doctorate degree in Interdisciplinary Studies; or Masters or Doctorate degree with a concentration in the teaching discipline with at least 18 graduate semester hours in related field.	Interdisciplinarity or Interdisciplinary Studies	Acceptable alternative qualifications include substantial professional experience (e.g., publications, awards) in related fields, relevant professional licensure/certifications, and notable scholarly work such as published articles or conference presentations in related fields.	A practicum or internship with an agency (public or private) pursuing activities related to one or both of the student's concentrations in order to provide the student with on-the-job experience. The details of the internship are negotiated among student, agency, and instructor. A major paper is required for successful completion of course, as well as a satisfactory evaluation by both instructor and internship supervisor.
WMST 2000 Introduction to Women's Studies	Earned Masters or Doctorate degree in Women's Studies; or Masters or Doctorate degree with a concentration in the teaching discipline with at least 18 graduate semester hours in related field.	Women and Gender Studies, History, Cultural Studies, Psychology, Sociology, Other Behavioral Health Science fields	Acceptable alternative qualifications include substantial professional experience (e.g., publications, awards) in related fields, relevant professional licensure/certifications, and notable scholarly work such as published articles or conference presentations in related fields.
WMST 4000 Capstone/Independent Study	Earned Masters or Doctorate degree in Women's Studies; or Masters or Doctorate degree with a concentration in the teaching discipline with at least 18 graduate semester hours in related field.	Women and Gender Studies, History, Cultural Studies, Psychology, Sociology, Other Behavioral Health Science fields	Acceptable alternative qualifications include substantial professional experience (e.g., publications, awards) in related fields, relevant professional licensure/certifications, and notable scholarly work such as published articles or conference presentations in related fields.	This one-semester course acts as the capstone for the Women's Studies minor in that the individual student will produce an independent research work that synthesizes his/her major field with the required course work in the Women's Studies minor. This course will be monitored by the WS Coordinator/Coordinating Committee, but the student will also work with a faculty member from her/his major area. Enrollment by permission of the WMST Coordinator/Coordinating Committee.
WMST 4100 Special Topics	Earned Masters or Doctorate degree in Women's Studies; or Masters or Doctorate degree with a concentration in the teaching discipline with at least 18 graduate semester hours in related field.	Women and Gender Studies, History, Cultural Studies, Psychology, Sociology, Other Behavioral Health Science fields	Acceptable alternative qualifications include substantial professional experience (e.g., publications, awards) in related fields, relevant professional licensure/certifications, and notable scholarly work such as published articles or conference presentations in related fields.	This interdisciplinary course can be proposed by the instructor either based on individual or student interest. The course must be approved by the Women's Studies Coordinating Council/Committee and fulfill the competencies of the Women's Studies Program. Topics may include but are not limited to the history of Women's Studies, representations of women in music, a comparative study of women's movements and activism, feminism and racism, specific representations of women within different nationalities, etc.