Please provide any additional information about or descriptions of the supervised clinical experiences:

The undergraduate candidates are supervised by Master Clinicians. These are retired teachers and principals experienced with the school districts that we serve. They work directly with the teacher candidates, the university, and the school district to ensure that our candidates are having a rewarding student teaching experience. The teacher candidates' co-teaching/clinical experience is observed and evaluated a total of seven times in their senior year (Residency Year). One IHE faculty was for music due to the composition the school placement being split between middle grades instrumental and high school band. *Note: In Tennessee, undergraduate candidates can accept a clinical placement permit (teacher of record/district employment) in lieu of student teaching (spring semester of year-long residency). While they no longer have a mentor teacher, the Master Clinicians continue to provide mentorship until the school semester concludes,

Teachers Prepared

On this page, enter the number of program completers by the subject area in which they were prepared to teach, and by their academic majors. Note that an individual can be counted in more than one academic major and subject area. For example, if an individual is prepared to teach Elementary Education and Mathematics, that individual should be counted in both subject areas. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major or subject area, you may leave the cell blank. Please use the "Other" category sparingly, if there is no similar subject area or academic major listed. In these cases, you should use the text box to describe the subject area(s) and/or the academic major(s) counted in the "Other" category.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the program completers in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the program completers in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the program completers for the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the teachers prepared data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

Teachers Prepared by Subject Area

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by subject area for academic year 2023-24.

For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Subject area" refers to the subject area(s) an individual has been prepared to teach. An individual can be counted in more than one subject area. If no individuals were prepared in a particular subject area, please leave that cell blank. (§205\(b\)\(1\)\(H\))

What are CIP Codes?

No teachers prepared in academic year 2023-24

If your program has no teachers prepared, check the box above and leave the table below blank (or clear responses already entered).

What are CIP codes? The Classification of Instructional Programs (CIP) provides a taxonomic scheme that supports the accurate tracking and reporting of fields of study and program completions activity. CIP was originally developed by the U.S. Department of Education's National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) in 1980, with revisions occurring in 1985, 1990, and 2000 (<https://nces.ed.gov/ipeds/cipcode/Default.aspx?y=55>).

Teachers Prepared by Academic Major

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by academic major for academic year 2023-24. For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Academic major" refers to the actual major(s) declared by the program completer. An individual can be counted in more than one academic major. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major, please leave that cell blank. (§205\(b\)\(1\)\(H\))

Please note that the list of majors includes several "Teacher Education" majors, as well as several noneducation majors. Please use care in entering your majors to ensure education-specific majors and non-education majors are counted correctly. For example, if an individual majored in Chemistry, that individual should be counted in the "Chemistry" academic major category rather than the "Teacher Education–Chemistry" category.

Program Assurances

THIS PAGE INCLUDES:

>> Program Assurances

Respond to the following assurances. Teacher preparation programs should be prepared to provide documentation and evidence, when requested, to support the following assurances. (§205\(a\)\(1\)\(A\)\(iii\); §206\(b\))

Program Assurances

Note: This section is preloaded from the prior year's IPRC.

1. Program preparation responds to the identified needs of the local educational agencies or States where the program completers are likely to teach, based on past hiring and recruitment trends.

- Yes
 No

2. Preparation is closely linked with the needs of schools and the instructional decisions new teachers face in the classroom.

- Yes
 No

3. Prospective special education teachers are prepared in core academic subjects and to instruct in core academic subjects.

- Yes
 No
 Program does not prepare special education teachers

4. Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to students with disabilities.

- Yes
 No

5. Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to limited English proficient students.

- Yes
 No

6. Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to students from low-income families.

- Yes
 No

7. Prospective teachers are prepared to effectively teach in urban and rural schools, as applicable.

- Yes
 No

8. Describe your institution's most successful strategies in meeting the assurances listed above:

The TSU Educator Preparation Provider (EPP) has established partnership agreements with school districts to identify and address district needs. The EPP program is based on a year-long clinical residency model, allowing candidates to experience the opening and closing of the school year. Courses and practica prepare candidates to address the needs of all students. The teacher candidates are placed with a mentor teacher in a P-12 classroom setting where a co-teaching model is practiced. Practicum observations and clinical experiences in partner schools with students from diverse backgrounds provide opportunities for candidates to plan for, instruct and assess students with diverse needs. Candidates practice differentiated instruction and other individualized instructional methods to ensure the needs of all students are met, including students with disabilities and limited English proficiency, as well as students from low-income families. Furthermore, field and clinical placements across the programs of study are managed to assure diversity of placement sites (i.e., urban, suburban, rural).

Annual Goals: Mathematics

Each institution of higher education (IHE) that conducts a traditional teacher preparation program (including programs that offer any ongoing professional development programs) or alternative route teacher preparation program, and that enrolls students receiving Federal assistance under this Act, shall set annual quantifiable goals for increasing the number of prospective teachers trained in teacher shortage areas designated by the Secretary or by the state educational agency, including mathematics, science, special education, and instruction of limited English proficient students.

8. Describe your goal.

Strengthen Collaboration with Local School Districts to Improve Field Experiences: Focus: Ensure that student teachers have access to high-quality, diverse field experiences. Action Steps: Partnerships: Expand partnerships with local high-needs school districts to create more student teaching placements within their schools. Co-teaching Opportunities: Develop co-teaching models where student teachers can collaborate with experienced math teachers in high-needs schools.

Set Next Year's Goal (2025-26)

9. Will your program prepare teachers in mathematics in 2025-26? If no, leave the next question blank.

- Yes
 No

10. Describe your goal.

Enhance Teacher Content Knowledge and Pedagogy in High-Needs Areas Focus: Address the specific needs of future math teachers who will be serving in high-needs schools (e.g., urban, rural). Action Steps: Curriculum Integration: Integrate real-world applications of mathematics relevant to high needs communities into existing content courses. Professional Development Workshops: Offer targeted workshops on effective pedagogy for diverse learners and culturally responsive teaching in mathematics.

2. Describe your goal.

The goal will be increase the number of students enrolled in the biology and chemistry teacher licensure programs by three students. The Tennessee State Board of Education passed 5.105 that exempts biology and chemistry candidates from taking a specialty area content assessment if they hold a degree with a major aligned to a qualifying middle or secondary core academic endorsement which they are seeking licensure and endorsement. We hope that this measure; in addition to the Noyce Grant and partnerships with the Departments of Biology and Chemistry will attract students into the science education.

Report Progress on Last Year's Goal (2023-24)

1. Did your program prepare teachers in special education in 2023-24?

If no, leave remaining questions for 2023-24 blank (or clear responses already entered).

- Yes
 No

2. Describe your goal.

The goal will be increase the number of special education candidates through a district residency program and other state grants. Specifically, we are working with our state primary partner to train para-professionals to become special educators. This will help to address to the teacher shortage and attract teachers to a high needs area.

3. Did your program meet the goal?

- Yes
 No

4. Description of strategies used to achieve goal, if applicable:

The partnership efforts have strengthened relationships with our primary district partner to support more special education interventionist candidates.

5. Description of steps to improve performance in meeting goal or lessons learned in meeting goal, if applicable:

6. Provide any additional comments, exceptions and explanations below:

Review Current Year's Goal (2024-25)

7. Is your program preparing teachers in special education in 2024-25? If no, leave the next question blank.

- Yes
 No

8. Describe your goal.

Support the final cohort of district residents through their program, while creating proposals for new residency partnerships.

Set Next Year's Goal (2025-26)

9. Will your program prepare teachers in special education in 2025-26? If no, leave the next question blank.

- Yes
 No

10. Describe your goal.

We will advertise the job-embedded licensure pathway to increase the preparation of Special Education candidates in the district. This pathway has been attractive because candidates can fulfill their clinical requirements at their school site; eliminating the financial hardships associated with traditional student teaching.

The pass rates table is populated from files provided by the testing company or state. The table provides information on the performance of the students in your teacher preparation program on each teacher credential assessment used by your state. In cases where a student has taken a given assessment more than once, the highest score on that test is used. In the case of a teacher preparation program with fewer than 10 scores reported on any single initial teacher credential assessment during an academic year, the program shall collect and publish information with respect to an average pass rate and scaled score on each state credential assessment taken over a three-year period. (§205(a)(1)(B))

Please note that this page does not have an edit feature as the pass rates have already been through several rounds of verification. If you identify an error, please contact RTI's Title II Support Center and your testing company representative.

Use of Technology

1. Provide the following information about the use of technology in your teacher preparation program. Please note that choosing 'yes' indicates that your teacher preparation program would be able to provide evidence upon request. (§205\(a\)\(1\)\(F\))

Does your program prepare teachers to:

- a. integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction

Yes

No

- b. use technology effectively to collect data to improve teaching and learning

Yes

No

- c. use technology effectively to manage data to improve teaching and learning

Yes

No

- d. use technology effectively to analyze data to improve teaching and learning

Yes

No

2. Provide a description of the evidence that your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction, and to use technology effectively to collect, manage, and analyze data in order to improve teaching and learning for the purpose of increasing student academic achievement. Include a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to use the principles of universal design for learning, as applicable. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the four elements listed above are not currently in place.

The TSU Educator Preparation Program integrates technology into curricula, instruction, and assessments through required instructional technology courses (EDCI 4190 and EDCI 5190). The use of technology is further integrated in methods courses (EDCI 4550, EDCI 4600, and EDLI 4500) where teacher candidates design lessons incorporating the use of technology during instruction. Moreover, teacher candidates are required to utilize technology in virtually all education courses since coursework often requires employing technology in presentations (e.g., Prezi, Internet WEB 2.0 digital platforms, Nearpod) and to engage in online discussions. Candidates are prepared to use technology to collect, manage, and analyze data to improve teaching and learning by developing assessments that are administered electronically in the assessment and evaluation courses (PSYC 3120 or PSYC 5330). The University's learning management system provides a platform for candidates to document and analyze student performance data and self-assessment during clinical practice. The aforementioned assessments document the use of technology in the instructional episodes. Additionally, candidates complete the capstone portfolio assessment known as edTPA®. The portfolio requires candidates to prepare a 3-5 lesson segment including assessments and a video to demonstrate teaching the lesson segment. An analysis of the formal and informal assessments to determine the effectiveness of the instruction is also required. The edTPA® portfolio requires reflective writing on the use of assessment data to improve instruction. All prepared materials are submitted to Evaluation Systems Group by Pearson to be assessed by a national scorer. Consistent with the theme of the TSU Educator Preparation Program's conceptual underpinning, "committed to diversity and the success of all," the program prepares candidates to employ the principles of universal design for learning (UDL). Thus, several courses in the program, along with field experiences, implement the use of UDL: EDC 3120 Contexts for Teaching and Learning, EDCI 3500 Instructional Strategies, EDSE 3330 Education of Exceptional Children, and EDCI

2100 and EDCI 2200 Field Study in Education I & II. These course provide candidates with the skills to develop flexibility in instructional strategies (e.g., differentiated instruction), and the use of different tools/materials to facilitate learning. Thus, in accordance with UDL, candidates develop strategies for (1) providing multiple means of representation, (2) providing multiple means of expression, and (3) providing multiple means of engagement, so that all students may achieve academic success.

Teacher Training

THIS PAGE INCLUDES:

>> Teacher Training

Provide the following information about your teacher preparation program.

(§205(a)(1)(G))

Note: This section is preloaded from the prior year's IPRC.

Teacher Training

1. Provide a description of the activities that prepare general education teachers to:

a. Teach students with disabilities effectively

General education teachers are prepared to teach students with disabilities effectively by: a. Observing in an inclusion classroom with a certified general education teacher; b. Developing lesson plans, including modifications and accommodations for students with disabilities; and c. Teaching a mini lesson demonstrating ability to provide instruction to students with disabilities, in methods courses and field experience placements.

b. Participate as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act.

Students are allowed to participate as a member of Individualized Education Program (IEP) teams by participating in a Mock IEP Meeting. Students participate in a simulated IEP meeting where each person has a role, such as parent, special education teacher, general education teacher, or school counselor. Students have an opportunity to develop IEP goals and a full IEP for a student with a disability. Groups are formed based on the area of certification, i.e., elementary, early childhood, or secondary.

c. Effectively teach students who are limited English proficient.

In preparation for teaching English language learners (ELLs) and obtaining the Tennessee K-12 ESL Endorsement, undergraduate teacher candidates are required to enroll in EDCI 3300 (Foundations of Second Language Acquisition and Teaching English as a Second Language) their sophomore year and EDCI 4300 (Methods and Assessment of TESOL) their junior year. EDCI 3300 addresses the foundations of teaching ELLs, language acquisition theories, and the cultural implications in teaching English. EDCI 4300 prepares students to implement methods of TESOL and testing and assessment for emergent bilinguals. In addition, the edTPA portfolio system requires students to submit a portfolio that demonstrates their ability to plan for, instruct, and assess students with varying academic and linguistic needs.

2. Does your program prepare special education teachers?

 Yes

 No

If yes, provide a description of the activities that prepare special education teachers to:

a. Teach students with disabilities effectively

The Interventionist K-8 program, offered at the Post-Baccalaureate level, provides special education teacher candidates with courses and experiences designed to prepare competent professionals with the knowledge and skills to teach students with disabilities, guided by the principle of inclusion. Candidates take courses in assessing and diagnosing disabilities (EDSE 5560 and EDLI 5640), managing behavior (EDSE 5640), consultation and collaboration (EDSE 5570), and utilizing technology to address special needs (EDSE 5800), along with methods courses preparing them to develop and implement IEPs (EDLI 5610, EDSE 5580, EDSE 5570). Candidates also complete a full semester residency working with individuals with disabilities under the supervision of a mentor teacher. In addition, special education teachers are prepared to teach students with disabilities effectively by: a. Observing an inclusion classroom with a certified general education teacher; b. Developing lesson plans, including modifications and accommodations, for students with disabilities; and c. Teaching a mini lesson demonstrating ability to provide instruction to students with disabilities, in methods courses and field experience placements.

b. Participate as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act.

Students obtain experience as a member of Individualized Education Program (IEP) teams by participating in a Mock IEP Meeting. Students participate in a simulated IEP meeting where each person has a role, such as parent, special education teacher, general education teacher, or school counselor. Students have an opportunity to develop IEP goals and a full IEP for a student with a disability. Groups are formed based on the area of certification, i.e. elementary, early childhood, or secondary.

c. Effectively teach students who are limited English proficient.

Strategies for working with students with limited English proficiency are integrated into the coursework preparing special education teachers. Candidates develop lesson plans that include strategies for differentiated instruction, taking into consideration students for whom English is not their first language. Moreover, candidates are placed in clinical residencies (student teaching sites) where there are students from diverse backgrounds, allowing candidates the opportunity to work with students with limited English proficiency who have disabilities.

Contextual Information

Please use this space to provide any additional information that describes your teacher preparation program(s). You may also attach information to this report card (see below). The U.S. Department of Education is especially interested in any evaluation plans or interim or final reports that may be available.

One of seven major academic divisions at Tennessee State University, the College of Education offers baccalaureate, master's, education specialist, and doctoral degrees through three academic departments: Teaching and Learning, Psychological Sciences and Counseling, and Educational Leadership. The Educator Preparation Provider, coordinated by the College of Education, cuts across five other colleges: Agriculture, Human, and Natural Sciences, Life and Physical Sciences, Engineering, Health Sciences, and Liberal Arts. Undergraduate and post-baccalaureate degree programs lead to professional licensure in nineteen areas. All programs constituting the Educator Preparation Provider are state approved, and the EPP is CAEP accredited. Consistent with the mission of TSU, the Educator Preparation Provider endeavors to prepare competent, caring teachers, counselors, psychologists, administrators and other professionals to maximize learning among students and to work effectively with diverse schools and communities. The organizing theme and primary purpose of the Educator Preparation Provider is the preparation of "competent and caring facilitators of learning, committed to diversity and the success of all." Thus, the TSU educator preparation program is designed to develop the knowledge, skills, and dispositions that enable teacher candidates to create learning environments that support the learning of all students. Moreover, competent facilitators of learning are well prepared to engage students in the learning process successfully. • Facilitators of learning guide students in becoming independent, life-long learners who think critically and examine issues from multiple perspectives. In this collaborative process, instructor and learner engage in mutual inquiry in the acquisition of knowledge and skills. To be successful, facilitators must consider the learner's needs and abilities when (1) planning, (2) maximizing learning, (3) evaluating, (4) managing, (5) modeling professionalism, (6) communicating, and (7) specializing in content. • Educators who care ensure that instruction and evaluation are fair and responsive to diverse learners, acknowledging that the criteria for success may differ across individual learners, and that accurately measuring success requires differentiated instructional approaches and differentiated methods of assessments. • The commitment to success of all is built upon dedication to diversity, predicated on the belief that all learners can achieve and succeed, and confidence that facilitators of learning who are both competent and caring can indeed facilitate the success of all. This commitment affirms the need for educators to utilize appropriate tools to help all learners achieve their potential, regardless of background, ability, or other differences. As a historically black university, TSU is especially committed to diversity and expects similar commitment of program completers. The educator preparation program at TSU, populated by a diverse group of candidates predominantly trained in the multicultural, urban milieu of Nashville, Tennessee, prepares candidates to meet the needs of an increasingly diverse P-12 student population.
