

APPLY TODAY
TO BE AWARDED
UP TO $10,000/yr

Promoting Recruitment and Retention of Minority Transfer Students in Science & Engineering (PROMISE) Scholarships

Deadline to Apply: June 1, 2021

The National Science Foundation PROMISE scholarship program at Tennessee State University (TSU) provides transfer students from community college scholarships (full tuition), professional development, internships, and mentoring. The award supports transfer students pursuing BS degrees in engineering and computer science at TSU.

Apply at: <https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/NBMHRBD>

For More Information, Contact TSU
College of Engineering, Dr. Li,
(615) 963-5421, lli1@tnstate.edu

This material is based upon work supported by the National Science Foundation under Grant Number 2029907. Tennessee State University is an AA/EEO employer.

Eligibility CRITERIA

- U.S. citizen or permanent resident
- Underrepresented minority transfer students from community college
- Accepted into full-time BS degree program in the TSU College of Engineering (engineering and CS)
- GPA: 3.0/4.0
- Demonstrate financial need

Scholarship Benefits

- Up to $10,000 per year cost-of-education allowance for tuition and fees for two-years
- PROMISE summer bridge program, professional development seminars, and mentoring.