MISS TENNESSEE STATE COLLEGE

MISS LILLIAN MARY RHODES, Senior
Division of Education
Member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority

By student acclamation, "Miss Tennessee State College" for the year 1944-45 is Lillian Mary Rhodes of Nashville, Tennessee, a senior in the Division of Education with a minor in Art Education.

As a graduate of Pearl Senior High School, Nashville, Miss Rhodes had the distinction of being elected "Miss Pearl High" during her senior year.

Her college affiliations include membership in Alpha Kappa Mu National Honor Society, and the Elementary Education Club, as well as other local organizations.

Included among her many interests are art, reading, and the theatre. Asked how she receives the election, Miss Rhodes claims the honor as a personal challenge for the loyalty and confidence placed in her by the student body of more than one thousand, the faculty, and the president of one of America's leading Negro colleges.

She is the daughter of the late Dr. W. S. Rhodes of Chicago, Illinois, and Mrs. Alma Rhodes Jones, associate professor of English, Tennessee State College, and the granddaughter of the late Dr. D. W. Dunn, physician and surgeon of Nashville, Tennessee. Miss Rhodes reigned supreme at the home-coming game with Wilberforce University on November 30.

CLASS HISTORY

There arrived at Tennessee State College in the fall of 1942 380 green freshmen, the first class to enter college under the actual strain of World War II. What was college to be like? Would we find new friends? Would we be able to stay away from home for nine months? These were some of the questions to which we anxiously awaited answers. After a while Uncle Sam drafted several boys of the class, making the proportion of the female population of the college much greater than ever before. The road was a little rough, and some of the girls decided that college was not the life for them and chose other careers.

Even though several of the original class did not return for the second year, there were 165 sophomores in the fall of 1943. We had acquired a few privileges. For instance, we were allowed to move in front of the freshmen when the lines were formed for the meals in the cafeteria. The calls came to us for participation in the usual programs sponsored by the sophomore class. Some of our class members had distinguished themselves in the various departments of the college, and several had even made prominent social clubs and Greek organizations.

Now we have acquired the air and dignity of a junior—138 strong. Some of the A. & I. sons and daughters who have made the honor roll of the Armed Services have returned to complete their work as members of our class. With a little more interest and labor on our part and encouragement from our most honored advisers, Mr. Merl R. Eppse and Dr. Thomas E. Poag, we shall do great things as seniors and in the world of tomorrow.

CREED

They labor to rest, combat to victory; we strive to atone for their losses by preparing to make and take part in a better republic for the living.

COLORS

Chartreuse and black represent the characteristics of the freshman class of '45. The combination of yellow and green in chartreuse represents our light, gay, cheerful attitude toward life, plus our inexperience but eagerness to learn. Black represents the dignity and quickness we are assuming as our college years go by.

FLOWER

The iris flower takes its name from Iris, the Greek goddess of the rainbow. The iris is Tennessee's state flower.

Thus be it resolved by the general assembly of the freshman class that the iris is adopted as the flower of the freshman class.

Since the establishment of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority at Howard University in 1908, its membership has increased to more than 2,000. High scholastic standards and the assumption of civic responsibilities underlie its program. Alpha Psi Chapter, established at Tennessee State on May 13, 1932, reviews its efforts to contribute to campus life. Its "Welcome to Tennessee State" project of meeting trains and buses at the beginning of each school year has been carried out for the past seven years. Its representation in Alpha Kappa Mu scholastic society is greater than any other organization on the campus, at present including Ethelyene Ward, Elaine Sherrill, and Lillian Rhodes. Lillian Rhodes was crowned "Miss Tennessee State" at the home-coming game. Elaine Sherrill was chosen queen of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity. The Alpha Kappa Alpha float won first prize in the home-coming parade for its originality and distinctiveness. For its annual Thanksgiving Sunday school program, "Thanksgiving Through the Ages" was presented.

DELTA SIGMA THETA SORORITY

HISTORY

A meeting on January 14, 1913, in Minor Hall, at Howard University, was the nucleus of the Greek letter organization, later known as the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority. The purpose of this meeting was to secure permission of the university authorities and to draw up constitutions and by-laws. On the twenty-second day of the same month, the sorority was formally organized. For almost a year this first chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority lived and grew through additions from the several classes of the university.

Alpha Chi Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority was established on A. and I. State campus May 15, 1936, with seven young college ladies. This chapter is nationally known for the presentation of its annual "Jabberwock," which is an imaginary creature, so called because of the many different parts of other animals which are needed to make him sufficiently fascinating. The proceeds from the Jabberwock are awarded in the form of a scholarship to the freshman young woman having the highest scholastic average for four years of high school work. Miss Willie Dean DeBow, of Lebanon, Tennessee, was the recipient of the scholarship in 1943.

Although Alpha Chi is the youngest Greek letter organization on the A. and I. State College campus, the chapter was awarded the silver loving cup by the History Study Club for outstanding cultural contributions for the years 1941-42, 1942-43, 1943-44, and 1944-45.

The sorority sponsors an essay contest for high school students in connection with the college History Study Club program during Negro History Week.

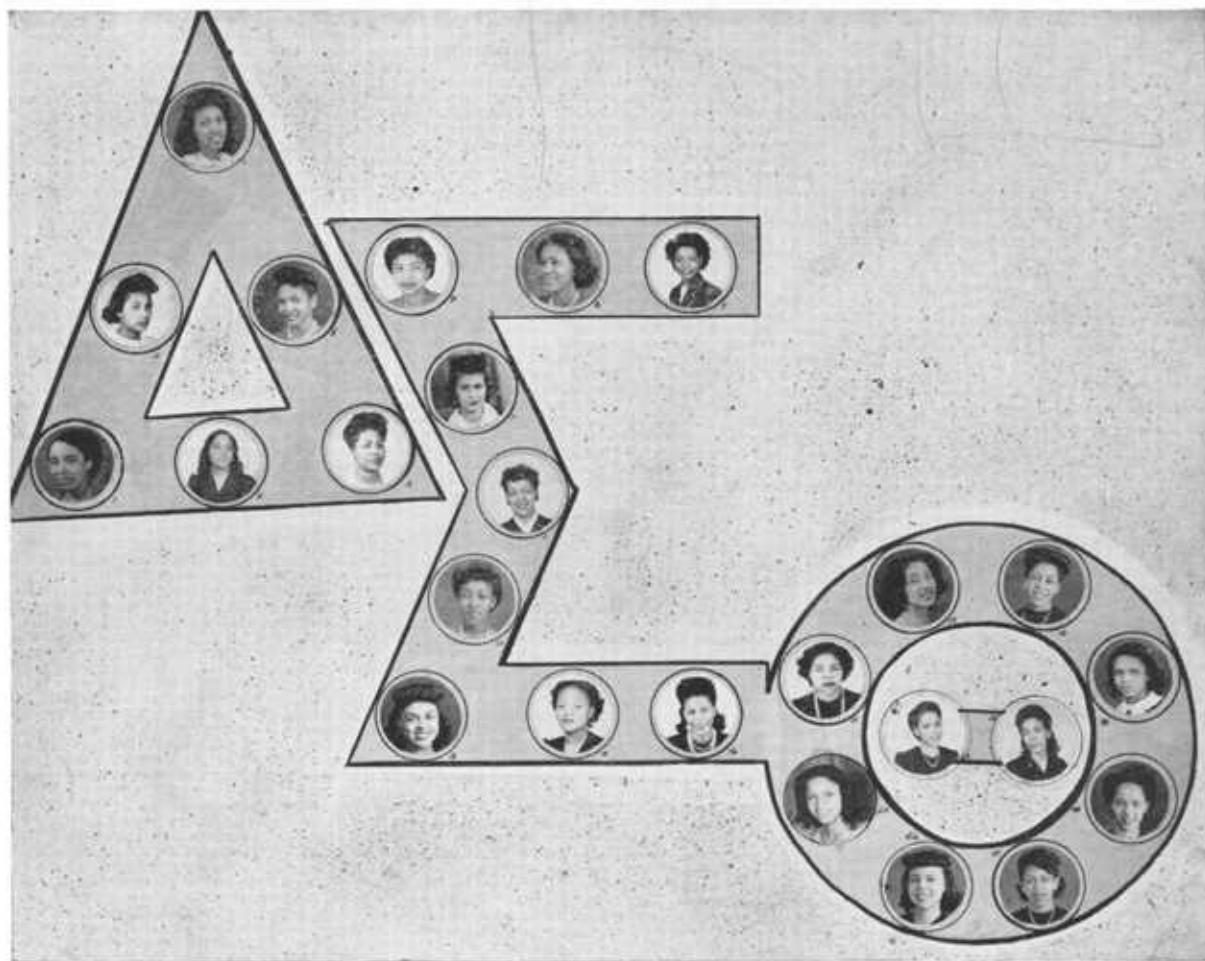

An all-college variety show was sponsored by Alpha Chi for the war casualties at Thayer General Hospital. Other Delta features at A. and I. State College include the following: Vesper and Sunday school programs, chapel services, annual picnic, and the annual spring dance.

Some of our members who have brought recognition to our chapter are: Soror Beckett, of Dyersburg, Tennessee, who was elected "Miss History Study Club, 1944-45"; Soror Alverine Strong, elected "Miss History Study Club, 1943-44"; Soror Clementine Atkins, crowned "Omega Sweetheart" of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity; and Sorors Mary Ray and Alice Gilchrist, who have been awarded scholarships for outstanding scholastic records.

Alpha Chi Chapter plays a vital part in the campus life of A. and I. State College and is merely a link in the huge chain of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority to uphold finer womanhood, scholarship, and service to the Negro race.

"May you live as long as you like, and have the likes as long as you live."

THE PYRAMID CLUB

The Pyramid Club of Alpha Chi Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority has striven during the school year 1944-45 to remain, according to its tradition, a credit to A. and I. and to Delta Sigma Theta Sorority.

Among the activities sponsored by the Pyramid Club are the following: a Quiet Hour program in which we emphasized the "Value of Religion to a Full College Life"; we repeated this program by special request at vesper service; a Sunday school program; we participated actively in the infantile paralysis drive.

We strive for scholarship. Among our honor students are Rose Cothorn, Grace Witherspoon, Dorothy McClendon, and Helen Tucker.

Clarice Weathers was one of the nominees for the most beautiful girl on the campus in a contest sponsored by the yearbook staff.

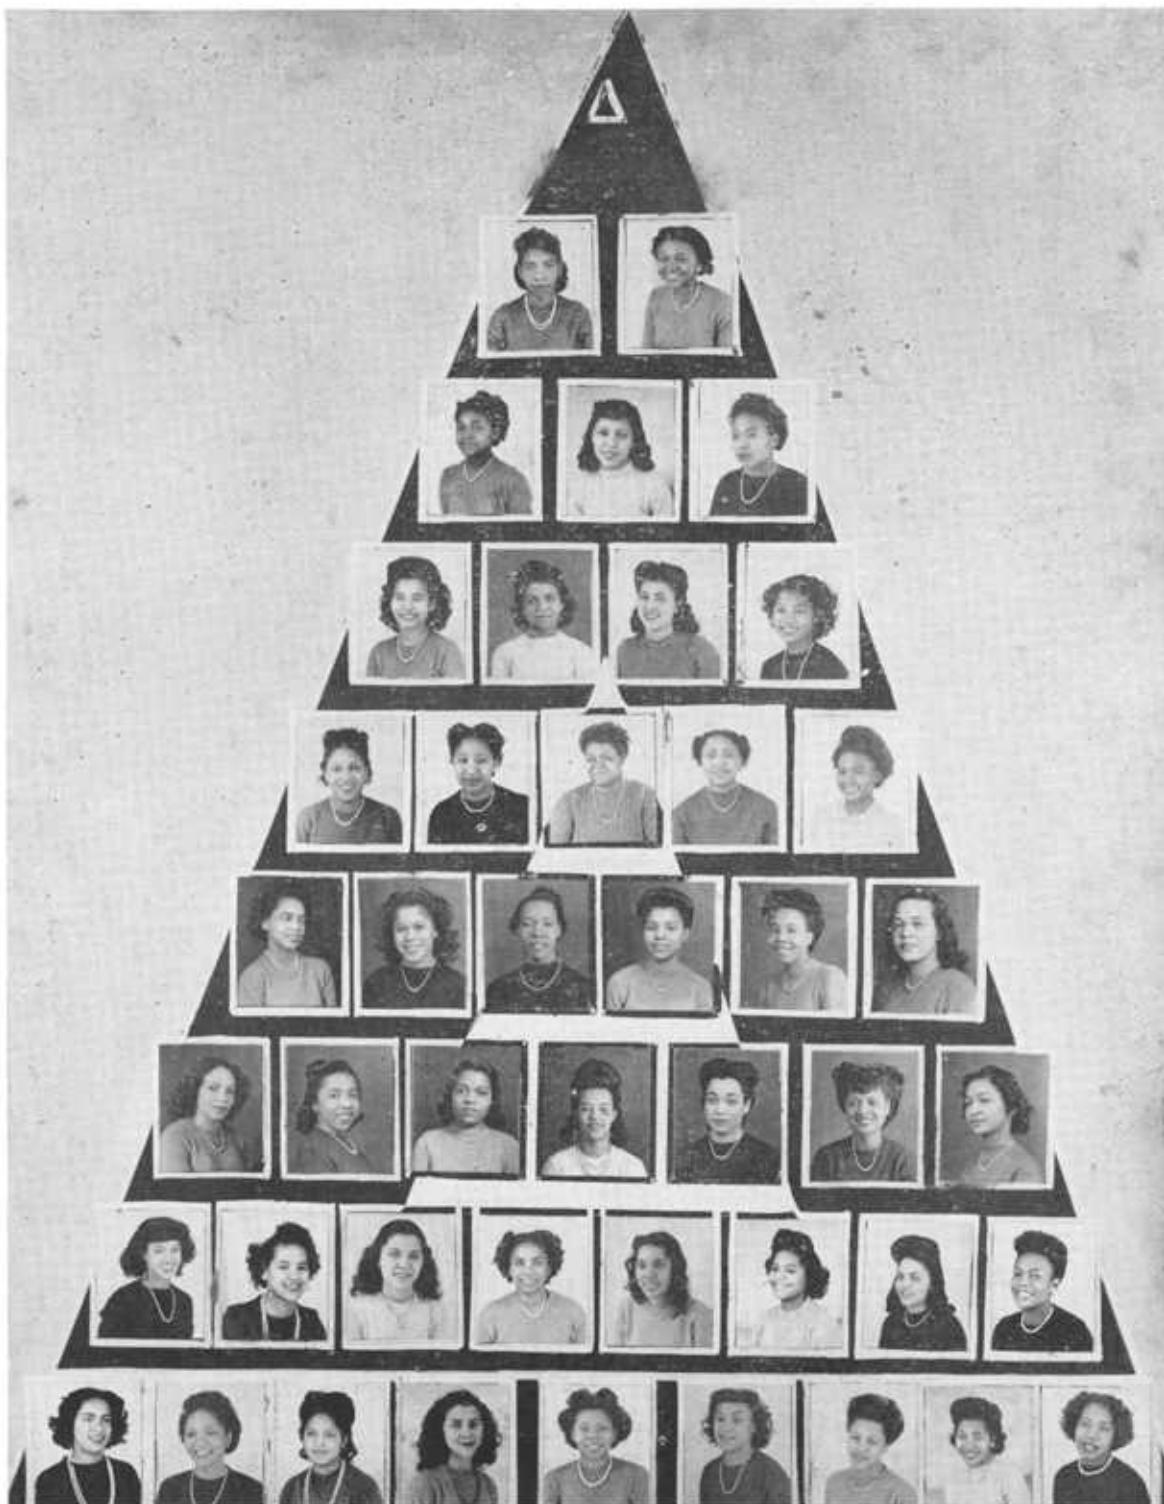

SORROWS

The world is dark today, and I am sad,
And all the sorrowing, weary earth seems clad
 In blackness and dismay.
The birds are still upon the naked trees;
The sun is hiding, and the moaning breeze
 Whispers to happiness to go its way.
Grant, God, that there may be a day of joy,
A day of rest, when every girl and boy
 May know of happiness:
Grant that the sun will shine in glorious light
With moon and stars to guide us in the night
 Unto Thy breast.

Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority was organized November 12, 1922, in Indianapolis, Indiana, on the campus of Butler University by Mary Lou Allison-Gardner. The sorority was incorporated as a National Collegiate Sorority November 30, 1929.

The first chapter, Alpha, has its charter at Butler University, and is still the most progressive chapter of the sorority. Too much cannot be said about the progress of the sorority's founder, whose report at the first boule showed the indefatigable efforts that she had made in establishing this sorority. The Alpha Beta Chapter was organized on the campus of the Tennessee State A. and I. College.

Slowly, but surely, Sigma Gamma Rho has grown, and we are proud to boast of the fact that we are the youngest National Collegiate Sorority of our group, and the oldest sorority on this campus. With our slogan, "Greater Service, Greater Progress," ever before us we will surmount the highest peak where we will find education the gateway to success.

This sorority sponsors such activities of the campus as Sunday school programs, vesper services, Quiet Hour (Meditation Hour), chapel programs, participates in "Religious Emphasis Week," sponsors its annual spring formals, donates liberally to all charitable concerns—tuberculosis campaign, March of Dimes, Community Chest drive, and shows a sisterly spirit toward all other sororities, clubs, and fraternities on the campus.

The Aurora Club sponsors such programs in Sunday school, vespers, Quiet Hour, and other social programs of the institution. In this club are representatives in the field of sport, music, and drama. In the history of Cornell University, the year 1906 will forever stand out in the hearts of many people. It was in this year that the first Negro fraternity was born. It was born as a quest for closer and better fellowship, scholarship, and devotion among the Negro male students at this university. In an effort to carry out these ideals, the fraternity sponsors yearly the "Go to High School—Go to College" movement and the "Education for Citizenship" campaign. Its daily aims are "Manly Deeds, Scholarship, and Love for All Mankind."

Twenty-eight years later, May, 1934, the Beta Omicron Chapter was established at Tennessee State College, Nashville, Tennessee. Setting high on a beaconing hill, it has shaped and molded the lives of many boys who enter her bounds. Like a tree planted by the water, it will never be moved.

The whole idea of the fraternity can be seen in its motto: "First of all, servants of all, we shall transcend all." Its present membership is small in numbers but not in ideas and ideals.

The Sphinx Club of Beta Omicron Chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity is composed entirely of men who are aspiring to become members of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity.

The club contributes to the uplift of the social life on the campus and develops its members as much as possible along the lines of a good Alpha man.

The Sphinx head, an ever noble and proud Egyptian statue, stands looking over the present into the future, guiding the Sphinx Clubs faithfully towards their goal and helping them to maintain their standards of scholarship, dependability, and cooperation. The Sphinx head has inspired many members to carry on under the dreary grasp of war.

Our club means more to us now than ever before as it visualizes the meaning of brotherhood in a much broader sense. Today it stretches to the four corners of the earth.

The Sphinx Club is giving its all in the hope that someday men will be together again in fraternal bondage, living and working together toward a better fraternity, a better school, and a better world to live in.

1. Vesper services—celebrating "Bigger and better business for Negroes."
2. Sunday school and Quiet Hour.
3. Smoker for freshman men and new students.

The Future Business Leaders of America of Tennessee State College was organized as Chapter No. 27 in the fall of 1941.

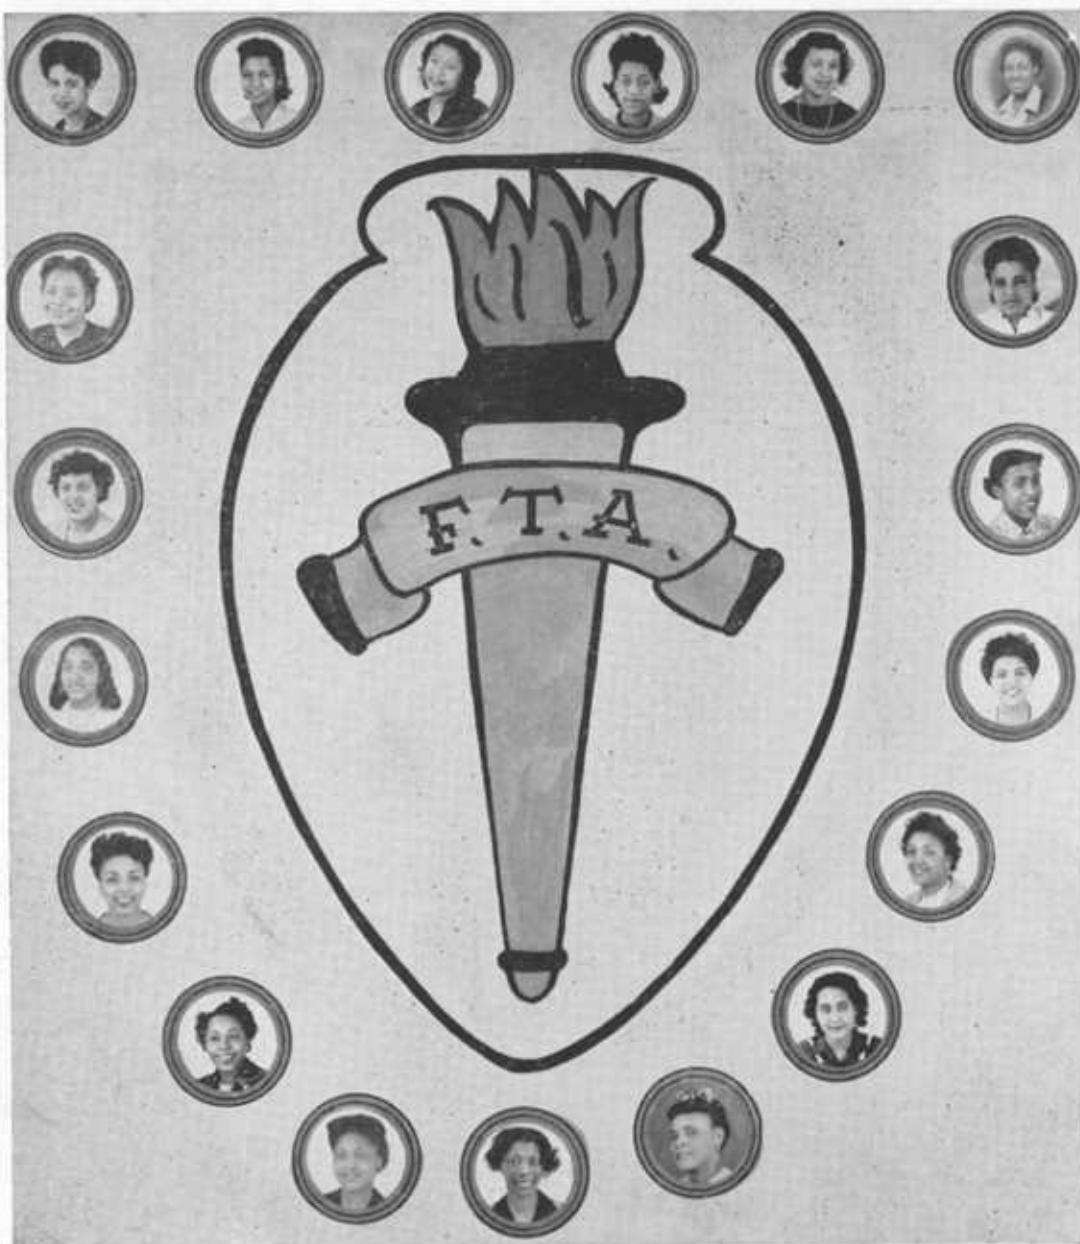

Some of the most outstanding activities of the chapter have been:

1. The publishing and distribution of the F. B. L. A. Newsletter to A. and I. sons and daughters at home and abroad.

2. The annual Christmas party is another feature that has been far-reaching for those students interested in the business division. Above is a photograph made at the 1944 Christmas party of F. B. L. A. members and their guests.

The Tennessee State College Chapter of F. B. L. A. ranks high as having accomplished great things during its existence as a part of the rapidly growing national organization.

The History Study Club was founded and organized in 1929 by Professor Merl R. Eppse, with "Service, Scholarship, and Socialization" as the standards set forth.

The purpose of the History Study Club is to apply the classroom knowledge with actual life situations. We sponsor Sunday school, vespers, Negro History Week, trips to interesting places, and an annual social.

Each year the club sponsors an annual scholarship dance. The 1944-45 event featured a "cabaret dance." At commencement, those majors who have distinguished themselves in the college receive the benefits of this affair.

We have over six hundred members with many graduate members throughout America.

The Little Theatre Movement is promoted through the Department of Speech and Drama. The Tennessee State Players Guild is the dramatic workshop for all students who desire to participate in dramatic and speech activities. The purposes of the organization are: first, to stimulate a greater interest in the drama; second, to develop Negro folk drama; third, to develop Negro actors, playwrights, scenic designers, and directors; and fourth, to present anything from Greek drama to the plays of Clifford Odets.

Productions have included: "Death Takes a Holiday," "Smilin' Through," "The Male Animal," "Nothing but the Truth," "Craig's Wife," "The Silver Cord," "Our Town," "Little Miss Fortune," "The Country Doctor," "Adam and Eva," "The Family Upstairs," "Dark Victory," "Nine Girls," and more than one hundred one-act plays and pageants.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

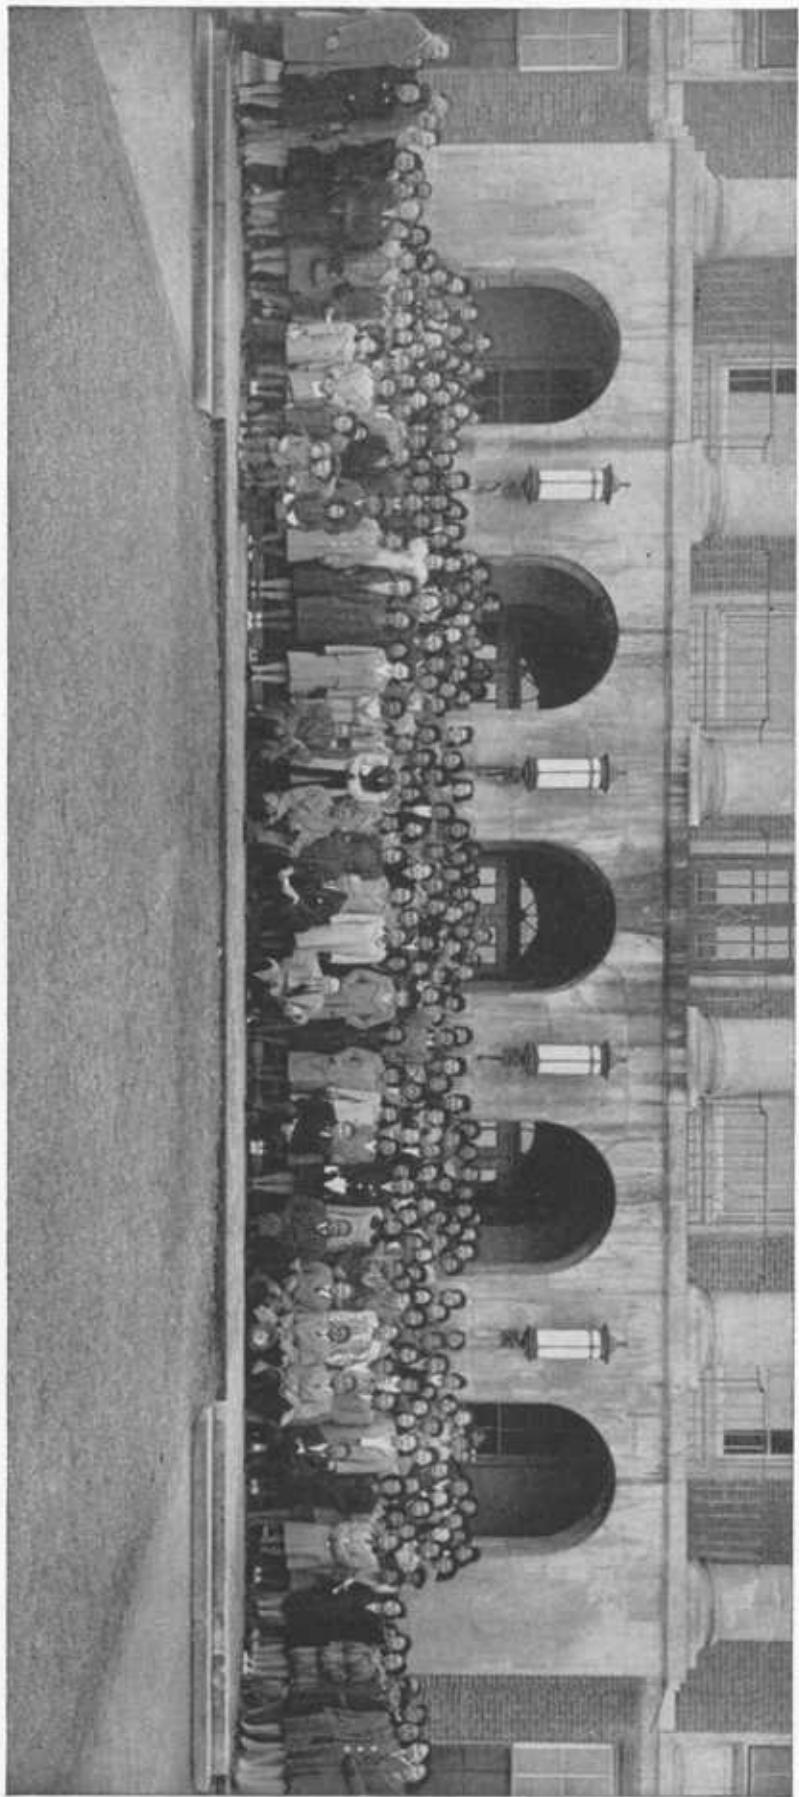

The Sunday School, under the faculty direction of Mr. R. E. Clay and Dr. G. W. Gore, Jr., is only one of the many opportunities afforded the student to enrich life through religion.

Monthly church, weekly prayer, Sunday vespers, and the Sunday School are regular phases of the religious program of the college.

Although attendance is not compulsory, the Sunday School attracts one of the largest audiences of any assembly on the campus.

All organizations, sororities, social and departmental clubs cooperate with the Sunday School by sponsoring various types of programs throughout the year.

The Sunday School receives the hearty support and cooperation of President Davis, who believes that the inspiration and stimulation thus received will be of inestimable value to students in an effort to evolve satisfying philosophies of life in a changing world.

THE ATHLETIC COMMITTEE

The Athletic Committee of Tennessee State College is a major unit of the college, and its importance should not in any way be underestimated. The committee has developed the program of intercollegiate sports into a well-rounded and diversified calendar and has brought the institution national recognition through its excellent development of the major and minor sports. In structure the Athletic Committee is similar to the athletic association of most colleges, and its purpose is to establish, administer, and supervise all athletic policies of the college, including the expenditures for improvement of athletics, the scheduling of games, the awarding of letters to deserving students, and the selection of coaches and other athletic aids.

All publicity in connection with the college's athletic program is managed by Dr. O. J. Chapman, Director and Professor of Education. Much credit and thanks go to Dr. Chapman for his untiring and ceaseless effort along this line.

TENNESSEE STATE COLLEGE FAMOUS CONCERT SINGERS

For more than ten years the Concert Singers under the direction of Mrs. Marie Brooks-Strange have carried their songs of good will throughout the State of Tennessee, as well as into other states of the Union. It is by means of their fine contacts that State College has made new and lasting friends. In 1932 and 1933, they sang at the Chicago World's Fair, while thousands listened with enthusiasm. When Kaga-wa, the great Chinese educator, spoke to a packed house in Memphis some four years ago, these singers brought thunderous applause. St. Louis presented them in the large opera house during the meeting of the National Education Association in 1936. They appeared on the Tennessee Day program at the New York World's Fair, 1939, at which time they were broadcast over a nation-wide hookup, and again by return invitation in 1940. The singers again appeared in St. Louis, in February, 1940, at the meeting of the National Education Association, where in the Gold Room of the Jefferson Hotel they rendered a program for the American Association of Teachers Colleges. In June, 1940, the singers made a triumphal tour through the midwest which included engagements in Minneapolis, Minnesota, at the National Convention of the Kiwanis Clubs, in Chicago at the University of Chicago, and at other educational institutions in Illinois and Indiana.

Networks from coast to coast have picked up their Columbia Broadcasting programs. The group has had regular appearances on the program, "Song Time in Tennessee." On numerous occasions, individual artists, selected from the group, have been featured on the radio.

Tours throughout the state are annually scheduled by the singers, at which time they are invited to appear before college and university audiences. Concerts in the city of Nashville have included George Peabody College for Teachers, Vanderbilt University, Scarritt College, the Hermitage Hotel, the Andrew Jackson Hotel, Chamber of Commerce, and the meeting of the governors of Southern States at the governor's mansion.

The Concert Singers have sung to the late President of the United States, Mr. Franklin D. Roosevelt, and to four governors of Tennessee: Governor Hill McAlister, Governor Gordon Browning, Governor Prentice Cooper, and the present Governor Jim McCord.

The group receives the hearty cooperation of the President of the College, Dr. W. S. Davis, who believes in developing the individual's special aptitude to the fullest of his capabilities.

Mrs. Marie Brooks-Strange, able director of the singers, gives untiringly of her time and energy in order to inspire her chorus to still greater achievement. The following expression from one of the leading educators of America be-speaks the general enthusiastic attitude with which the group is received:

"Indeed, I cannot recall any program ever presented in this institution during the twenty years of my connection here which has ever called for so much enthusiastic response from the students and faculty as well. I was expecting a great deal from your group, but must confess that you exceeded even my highest expectations. The work you are doing in music at A. and I. State College ranks easily now among the high achievements of the Negro race in the United States, and I most warmly congratulate you and all others who have any part in this fine record."

The following members of the group have distinguished themselves: Forrest W. Strange, Silas Cephus Douglas, Lottie Springs-Smith, Alexander Carney, Louis C. Tolliver, William Gillespie, Inge Hardison, Modestine Young, Laura Edmonds-Clay, Olivia Lane Jones, Benton A. Adams, and Hilda McGill-Taylor.

The college cafeteria holds a unique place in the program of the school affairs. It is one of the many places on the campus that stands for efficiency and courteous service.

The reputation of successful management may be attributed to many causes. Until recently, Mrs. Janie Standback Elliott has devoted her unselfish service to the cause of making "meal-time a happy time." Since July, 1944, Mrs. Mary Randolph Hardy, a graduate of the college, has been in direct charge of the cafeteria, with Mrs. Elliott serving as consultant. Foods of the best quality are prepared by neat, clean, and interested men and women. The food is both attractive and wholesome, as special care is given not only to how it looks, but to the nutritive values to be received.

The cafeteria has not only served the students and faculty, but it has extended its service to personalities of national and international character. The legislature meets biennially in Nashville, at which time it has been the privilege of the college to entertain with a luncheon in their honor. This year they were entertained in a similar manner at dinner. Various organizations, including the New Farmers of America, the Y. W. C. A., the Tennessee Negro Education Association, National Conference of State Supervisors and Teacher Trainers in Agriculture and Home Economics, meetings of deans and registrars, national meetings of fraternities and sororities, Ministers Alliance, and others, have been served elaborate banquets in the college cafeteria. Visitors from all sections of the country have shared the hospitality of the cafeteria.

In our new regime under President W. S. Davis, a graduate of the college and former faculty member, the cafeteria is continuing its tradition of service and good will.
